Prospects For Outer Space Plan Good

Soviets Lean Suddenly To West Position

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The prospect looked good today for unanimous U. N. agreement to get started on an international study of ways to explore outer space for peaceful purposes.

Russia's sudden shift toward the Western position brought demands from several quarters that Western and Soviet delegates meet to iron out their remaining differences and formulate a unified resolution for the U.N. Assembly.

Western delegates were heartened by the new Soviet proposal, which dropped earlier demands for abandonment of U.S. bases overseas and a ban on military space missiles. This appeared to eliminate the chief hurdle to agreement.

In presenting his new plan, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin made plain the Soviet Union would continue to press for abolition of American overseas bases and a ban on sending military missiles into outer space. But he indicated this would be done through the new 81-nation U.N. Disarmament Commission.

PEACEFUL PURPOSE

Russia's new proposal called for creation of an 11-nation study group to work out the "program and rules" for a permanent U.N. committee for cooperation in the study of outer space for peaceful purposes.

The United States and 19 associated nations have also proposed creation of a temporary committee to study the possibilities of international cooperation in outer space and to recommend the form for a future space agency. The American plan does not specifically authorize a permanent commission.

Zorin also proposed a list of members for the preparatory group which is likely to draw western opposition. His nominations were the Big Four — the United States, the U.S.S.R., Britain and France—with India, the United Arab Republic and Sweden as neutrals, Argentina for the Latin Americans, and Poland, Romania and Czechoslovakia from the Communist bloc.

DA Accuses Caril Of Encouraging, Assisting Killer

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Caril Ann Fugate "encouraged and actually assisted" mass slayer Charles Starkweather during their murder rampage, County Atty. Elmer Scheele told a jury today.

Caril, 15, wept quietly as Scheele addressed the jury, saying that despite her age, she "knows the difference between right and wrong." Her eyes were red as the prosecutor described the mass murders as a "common plot" by the two teen-agers.

Starkweather has been sentenced to death. Caril could receive the same sentence. Her trial, which began Oct. 27, is expected to reach the jury Thursday.

Scheele, a lanky ex-FBI agent, hammered hard on the state's contention that the girl, rather than being a frightened hostage of an armed madman, had numerous changes to escape.

HOEF-SISTER

The state's theory, Scheele said, is that while Caril did not "actually pull the trigger" in the slaying of Robert Jensen, 17, she did aid and abet Starkweather and "is just as guilty as the one who pulled the trigger." It was for the Jensen murder that Stark-

Squeeze Play On Berlin Air Lanes Hinted By Russians

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany dropped a strong hint today it expects to get control over the Allied air corridors leading to isolated West Berlin. These would be the Allied garrisons' only lifelines if surface routes were closed.

The hint came in the East Berlin newspaper Neue Zeit.

It declared the United States, Britain and France are violating a four-power air corridors—stretching between Berlin and Frankfurt, Hamburg and Hannover — would be used only for Allied military purposes.

Pan American, Air France and British European Airways use them for regular passenger flight. These airlines also carry out the thousands of refugees that stream into West Berlin every month from East Germany.

FORCE OUT

Neue Zeit contended the Western Big Three were using the corridors "for purposes of the cold war" and the time has come for new negotiations on their use.

This article fits another piece into the pattern of the Soviet bloc's campaign—touched off by Premier Nikita Khrushchev last week—to turn over control of supply lines to the East German Communists and force the Allies out of Berlin.

Soviet withdrawal from the four-power occupation of the old German capital is now considered a certainty, although authorities here had no idea how soon it would come.

The Western Big Three were already getting set to cope with the impending transfer of control over surface supply across 110 miles of East German territory. These were cut in the 1948-49 blockade that was broken by airlift.

The Russian action was expected to touch off the Berlin crisis since the 1948-49 blockade.

The United States, Britain and France were reliably reported to have prepared steps to take if the East Germans begin controlling Allied military truck convoys or trains. The East Germans already regulate civilian traffic from West Germany.

Western officials declined to say what Allied soldiers would do if checkpoints now manned by Russians are turned over to representatives of the East German Regime which the Allies refuse to recognize.

But experts here believe the Allies will react with these steps:

DAVIS MURDER TRIAL

State Continues Case Foundation

The state spent this morning building up its foundation works in its trial of Brodie Byron Davis charged with the murder of 80-year-old Isaac C. Baker last May.

Nine state witnesses were called during the morning session. Among these were law enforcement officers who were called upon to establish physical evidence, but shortly before the noon recess, the two granddaughters of the victim took the stand to tell of their visit to Baker on Thursday night, May 15, the night on which the retired farmer was last reported seen.

Called to the stand this morning were Raymond Knowles, deputy sheriff; William O. Causey, deputy sheriff; J. Frank Kirby, chief criminal deputy for the sheriff's department; William Chumley, special agent for the Illinois Central Railroad; Carl E. Hill, merchant who testified he sold a bag which is important to the case from all indications; Warren Seivers, identification officer for the sheriff's department; Harold Ray Crowell, taxi driver, and Teresa Pool and Sandra Pool, granddaughters.

This afternoon's session was expected to bring out more of the details of the case.

Dist. Atty. Albin P. Lassiter was expected to continue establishment of the murder weapon, the nature of which had not been

Virginia Voters Give 3-1 Okay To Segregation Policy

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — The Norfolk City Council had the voters' three-to-two blessing today to ride with the state's anti-integration policy, which has closed six of Norfolk's public schools.

In the first direct ballot on Virginia's "massive resistance" program, three out of five voters said they would rather have the schools remain closed than have them opened and integrated.

The vote Tuesday was 12,658 "against" and 8,781 "for" this proposal:

"Shall the council of the city of Norfolk, pursuant to state law, petition the governor to return to the city control of schools, now closed, to be opened by the city on an integrated basis as required by the federal court?"

NO REQUEST

City Council called the referendum strictly to test the people's feelings on the school closures, and the results are binding in no way upon council or the state. Five of the seven councilmen, however, indicated before hand they would follow the verdict of the voters.

State law would permit Gov. J. Lindsay Almond, at his discretion, to return the schools to local control for reopening if jointly requested to do so by council and the city school board. No such request now is expected.

Segregationists hailed the outcome as a mandate for "massive resistance."

Frosty Morning Forecast Here

The first general frost for the season was forecast by the area weatherman for tonight. Skies will remain clear.

Yesterday's high was 54, according to Civil Aeronautics, Selman Field, and the low reached during the night was 47. The reading at mid-morning today was 49 degrees.

Low's for tonight, 36 to 40, with highs of 58 to 62 listed in the forecast for tomorrow.

FOR MISSING SEAMEN

Families Sweat It Out--And Pray

ROGERS CITY, Mich. (UPI)— Rogers City, a shipping community of 4,000 on Lake Huron, hoped and prayed today for 25 of its seamen missing in gale-swept Lake Michigan.

Lights burned in many homes as residents stayed up all night.

"It's like one of those mine disasters," one of them said. "All we can do is sweat it out—and pray."

The local radio station, WHAK, broadcast on an emergency basis all night, giving relatives of the missing men bulletins on the disaster.

About 350 Rogers City men are sailors on the nine ships operated by the Bradley Transportation line.

RAFTS FLOATING

The Carl D. Bradley, which sank Tuesday in Lake Michigan, was a limestone carrier. The 25 Rogers City men aboard sailed her during the summer and fall and did maintenance work for the company in the winter.

The city was stunned by the accident.

"It's never happened to us before," one resident said.

Rogers City pinned its hopes on the Coast Guard reports that the location of the downed vessel had not been pin-pointed.

Blonde Admits Slaying Rival, Burning Body

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Edyth Klumpp, 34, a teacher who Tuesday night told police of slaying a rival and then burning her body, claimed today that she acted in self defense. She is charged with murder.

The dead woman, Martha Louise Bergen, 32, over whose husband the women quarreled, drew a pistol while they were discussing the situation, Mrs. Klumpp said in a written statement.

Then, she added, "something happened and Mrs. Bergen was injured." She did not elaborate.

When she learned Mrs. Bergen was dead, Mrs. Klumpp told prosecutor Mel Ruger, she shoved the body into the luggage compartment of her automobile, took it to the shore of Lake Cowan, a state reservation 45 miles northeast of Cincinnati. There she set it afire, she said.

YEAR AGO

Several children, who boarded at her home, accompanied her to the lakeside where gasoline was poured on the body, she said in the statement. That occurred the day after Mrs. Bergen's death.

Hunters found the body Nov. 1.

The children apparently were not aware of what was going on, a detective chief told a reporter.

Mrs. Klumpp, who was questioned until early this morning before making a statement, was driven over the route she said she took to the lake.

Detectives Wilbur Stagenhorst and Eugene Moore, who accompanied her, said they hoped to find the pistol Mrs. Klumpp said Mrs. Bergen drew on her.

Mrs. Klumpp divorced her hus-

15 Persons Die In Cuban Violence

HAVANA (UPI) — Fifteen persons have been killed here in 24 hours, apparently in clashes between rebel sympathizers and police looking for the tommy gunners who killed seven patrolmen in a gang-style massacre Tuesday night in suburban Marianao.

The official announcement on the casualties said only that nine persons had been "found dead" in Marianao and six in Havana proper. Such vagueness about a violent death in Cuba usually means that the victim was shot by police who don't want to talk about the incident.

In all, 23 persons have been killed in or near Havana in 10 days in a running battle between police and rebels which started when police killed insurgent leader Angel Almejeira and three companions Nov. 7.

AFL-CIO May Lose Another Major Union

Meany Warned To Halt Probe Of Carpenters

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO faces a problem of backing up on its anticorruption drive or possibly losing another of the labor federation's major unions, the Carpenters.

Maurice Hutcheson, the Carpenters Union boss, has dared AFL-CIO President George Meany to stop investigating the carpenters or risk withdrawal of the 840,000-member union from the merged labor organization.

Having already tossed out the 1½ million member Teamsters Union on corruption charges, AFL-CIO leaders may think twice about forther depleting federation ranks, now down to about 13½ million members.

At an AFL-CIO Executive Council meeting two weeks ago Walter Reuther, head of the Auto Workers, and James B. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical Workers, moved to oust Hutcheson as a council member and AFL-CIO vice president right then and there.

FELLOW OFFICIALS

However, the council decided to give Hutcheson more time to explain his refusal to answer questions by the Senate Rackets Committee and to discuss his indictment in Indiana highway scandals.

While shunning an invitation to attend that council meeting, Hutcheson sent a written denial of wrongdoing or misuse of union funds. Then last week the Carpenters Union convention authorized Hutcheson and fellow union officials to pull the union out of the AFL-CIO if and when they see fit.

The way things stand now, the AFL-CIO council has asked Hutcheson to appear and make his explanation of corruption charges at its next meeting in February at San Juan, Puerto Rico, or at a special session whenever Hutcheson is ready.

Some AFL-CIO leaders say privately they doubt a majority of the council would ever vote to punish Hutcheson and thus almost inevitably lose the big Carpenters Union and its dues payments.

However, the Carpenters Union convention rejected the AFL-CIO ethical practices codes. In the case of the Teamsters, such refusal helped clinch its expulsion.

Once before, in 1953, the Carpenters pulled out of the old AFL in a row over labor union jurisdiction. But the Carpenters rejoined the AFL in about three weeks.

Veteran Railroad Clerk Arrested For Embezzlement

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — A veteran railroad mail clerk accused of rifling three pounches of nearly $100,000 on a Portland-Boston train was arrested as he returned home today.

Robert S. Doucette, 42, father of five, was taken before U.S. Commissioner Herbert H. Sawyer for arraignment.

Doucette entered no plea and waived hearing on a charge he embezzled registered mail. Sawyer found probable cause and held the postal clerk in $5,000 bail.

'TEST LETTER

The warrant said the money came from the First National Bank of Lewiston and Auburn.

U.S. Dist. Atty. Peter Mills said Doucette allegedly opened three pouches while on the Portland-Boston run early today and removed $96,377 in Federal Reserve System transfer funds.

He also took what is called a "test letter' containing about $250, Mills said.

Mills said he understood that Doucette, a transportation clerk since 1941, had been under surveillance for some time.

Gunman Kills Ga. Policeman

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — A gunman shot a policeman to death Tuesday night as the officer sought to question the man about a liquor store robbery.

The gunman, driving a stolen car, fired five bullets into motorcycle policeman Frank Wall, 34, as the officer walked to the side of the auto.

Two .32 caliber slugs struck Wall in the abdomen, one grazed his right ear, a fourth pierced his hand and one shot plowed into the policeman's back.

TRUCK OPERATOR

Witness Beat Union Boycott

WASHINGTON (AP) — Desmond A. Barry, a Texas truck operator who licked boycotting Teamsters unionists, tells Senate investigators today about his successful fight against the "hot cargo" practice.

Under this practice, unionized truck lines refused to handle freight to or from any other line involved in a dispute with the teamsters.

The Senate Rackets Committee currently is studying whether regulations against secondary boycotts, including the hog cargo practice, need tightening.

Barry is president of the Galveston Truck Lines of Houston, Tex.

His troubles with the Teamsters started in 1955 when, he said, the union insisted that he sign a contract accepting it as the collective bargaining agent for his drivers.

He said the drivers wanted no part of the union, and that he wouldn't "let anyone force such a contract down my men's throats."

RULED ILLEGAL

His refusal, Barry said, brought a hot cargo boycott, which he claimed cut his business in half in six weeks.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, in an action started by Barry, finally ruled such tactics illegal.

The Rackets Committee announced it also would call officials of the Coffey Transfer Co., of Alma, Neb., allegedly driven out of business by a hot cargo boycott.

Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said John Bridge of Chicago, labor consultant to the Motor Carriers Advisory Council, would be questioned about agreements under which some of the

Spokesman For Teachers Rap PAR Director

BATON ROUGE (AP) — A spoksman for Louisiana's 26,000 teachers today criticized executive dirctor Edward Steimel of the Public Affairs Research Council "for implying school boards are doing an inefficient job."

F. F. Wimberly, New Iberia, chairman of the Louisiana Teacher Assn. legislative committee, accused Steimel of being "unfair."

PAR is a consistent watchdog of the states tax structure. Wimberly has been a leader for more than two years in efforts to raise the gas gathering tax for teachers pay.

Steimel told a parent - teacher conference here yesterday a growing number of Louisianians feel public schools do not practice economy.

Wimberly emphasized school boards in the 67 parish and city districts are responsible for financial control and spending policies of schools.

Steimels published remarks, he added, imply the more than "600 school board members of this state are doing an inefficient job."

The PAR executive told his audience he had heard it said private schools would teach public schools a lot of economy. . . ."

Tabulations Show Eighteen Bodies Found

Tragedy Occurs When Cargo Ship Splits, Sinks

CHARLEVOIX, Mich. (AP) — Two men were found alive today in angry waters of Lake Michigan, which it was feared had claimed the lives of 33 others from the freighter Carl D. Bradley when she went down in the cold, storm-tossed lake late Tuesday.

Unofficial tabulations indicated 18 bodies had been recovered.

Some veteran seamen expressed amazement even two had survived overnight in 50-degree water in howling gale winds that piled up mountainous waves on the Great Lakes. The air temperature was 40.

The 615-foot Bradley, longer than two football fields end-to-end, went down off Gull Island at the top of Lake Michigan in 60-mile winds. Split apart, she apparently exploded when incoming water hit her hot boilers.

The German motorship Christian Sartori, which battled for more than an hour to cover the three miles to the sinking site, found no survivors, no life boats; nothing except a tank that came from deep inside and indicated explosion.

First mate Elmer Fleming, 43, and deckman Frank Mays, 26, both of Rogers City, Mich., were found alive today off High Island, north and east of where the Bradley went down.

A sea plane reported sighting eight bodies on a raft, but was unable to say whether there was life in any.

Verne Cole of the Grand Rapids Herald, keeping tab on ship and aircraft radio reports at the elbow of a ham operator, said 18 bodies had been recovered.

There was no confirmation of any body recoveries from the Coast Guard.

Youth Arrested On Five Counts After Fast Chase

An 18 - year - old Monroe youth, free on bonds for two burglaries and acquitted in fourth District court Nov. 10 on a third count, was apprehended late yesterday by Louisiana state police on five counts, including automobile theft. The youth was taken into custody following a chase through Monroe which at times reached 105 miles an hour, police said.

The youth was identified as Nelson Fite, 18, 111 Richmond street.

Troopers of the Louisiana state police charged Fite with automobile theft, carrying a concealed weapon, a razor, resisting arrest, speeding 105 miles an hour in a 40 mile zone, and having no driver's license. They intercepted the automobile near the Louisville-DeSiard intersection and chased west to the DeSiard - North Sixth street intersection, where Fite was apprehended.

Fite was taken to the Ouachita parish jail, where he is being held. No bond was set early today.

A 12-man jury acquitted Fite of burglary of the Forsythe Curb Market when he was brought to trial on Nov. 11. The offense is alleged to have occurred on August 6, the same date of two other burglaries, involving the Forsythe Unique Cleaners and Doncer's Beauty Salon. Fite is charge with both burglaries.

The automobile in which Fite was traveling when he was apprehended, was reportedly stolen from near the Barkdull Faulk Elementary School in south Monroe. The vehicle belonged to a Mr Fisher, no address given.

running high in 30-mile winds, were reported having difficulty getting into shallow waters where the bodies were reported sighted.

At 5:20 p.m. Tuesday the Bradley radioed its home port, Rogers City, it estimated it would arrive at 2 a.m. today. A limestone carrier, it was en route home empty, having left its cargo for Gary steel mills at Buffington, Ind.

Then at 5:31—just 11 minutes later — Capt. Roland Bryan, the Bradley's skipper shouted into his radio: "Mayday, Mayday, Mayday. This is the Carl D. Bradley. Our position is approximately 12 miles southwest of Gull Island. We are in serious trouble."

Next, a voice was heard: "Run, grab life jackets. Get the jackets. Mayday, the ship is breaking up."

Capt. P. Mueller of the Christian Sartori heard. He set his course of the scene, only three miles away. But in 68-mile winds and 20-foot waves, which follow each other much more closely on the lakes than on the oceans, it took him more than an hour to get there.

"I believe," he finally reported, "all hands are lost. No lifeboats are visible."

A Coast Guard plane flew out of Traverse City, Mich., taking off over double triangular red flags signifying a gale. It dropped flares, going back and forth over the tragedy scene.

The Coast Guard cutter, Sundew sped out of Charlevoix, but smaller craft which tried to follow it were driven back. Neither the Sundew nor the plane spotted anything all night.

Then the plane's crew spotted Fleming and Mays shortly after dawn.

The Sundew, which took them aboard, radioed that Fleming said he did not recall any explosion and it was his belief that heavy seas broke the Bradley apart. He was reported suffering from exposure, but in good condition.

The Charlevoix Coast Guard station ordered crewmen flown to Beaver Island, largest in a group at the top of Lake Michigan, to man a 40-foot boat there in hopes of getting into shallow waters where bodies were reported spotted.

Lake Michigan at the spot where the ship went down is some 330 feet deep.

The Bradley, built in 1927 and then the largest ship on the Great Lakes, had a cargo capacity of 14,800 tons. Capt. Bryan was from Loudenville, N.Y., but 31 of his 35-man crew from the little Lake Huron port of Rogers City.

The Bradley flew the flag of the Bradley Transportation Co., of Rogers City. The firm is a subsidiary of U.S. Steel Corp., and hauls iron-making limestone.

Never before had Bradley lost a ship and it claimed a world record for safety.

The Carl D. Bradley was on its 46th trip of the lakes shipping season in which it had covered 27,000 miles this year. At 31 it was relatively young as lakes freighters go.

Between them, the seamen who manned the ship had 52 children.

Theodore Dhalberg of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., who skippered the Bradley from 1930 to 1940, said "her rivets probably worked loose. It could happen in a storm like this one. The lake isn't like the ocean. On the lake storms build up waves in quick succession."

The last previous major disaster in the Great Lakes was in 1953. The American freighter Henry Steinbrenner went down in Lake Superior in 72 m.p.h. winds. Seventeen of its 31 crewmen died.

Jensen's body and that of his girl friend Carol King 16, were found in a storm cave near their homes in Bennett, southeast of Lincon, last Jan. 28.

During the early part of his summation, Scheele said the first three victims in the string of 10 murders in which Carol and Starkweather were involved were slain "in the presence of Caril Ann Fugate." These victims were her mother, stepfather and baby half-sister and she testified she did not know they were dead until after she was arrested.

Scheele recalled a number of instances when, he said, Caril could easily have escaped. He stressed that once, two armed law officers came to the door of Caril's home but the girl awakened Starkweather before "shooing the officers away" with a story that her family was ill.

Another time, Scheele said, when relatives came to the house, the evidence showed Starkweather was not around to intimidate her but was "actually at the other end of town."

State Opens Case

disclosed until late yesterday afternoon when special emphasis was placed on a heavy five-cell flashlight owned by the murder victim, Isaac C. Baker, 80-year-old retired farmer who lived alone at the foot of Lazarre Avenue in West Monroe "back of the levee."

The victim's daughter, Mrs. Rachel Pool, third witness called to the stand by the state, said her father's flashlight which was always present around the house, has been missing since she visited Baker's home on Friday, May 16, the day after the aged man was reported missing.

CORONER TESTIFIES

Dr. John Burton, Ouachita parish coroner, first witness, told the court that Baker's body showed signs of heavy blows about the head, "any one of which could have caused death." He said the blows were administered with a heavy blunt instrument.

Baker's swollen body was found floating in the flood waters of Ouachita River about a mile downstream from his home on Monday, May 20. His hands had been bound together in front of the body, and a towel was knotted around his neck.

Dr. Burton said that the cord that bound the victim's hands was similar to those used as starter cords for a power lawn mower or an outboard motor. It still had the pull handle attached when found around Baker's wrists, the coroner said.

Mrs. Pool estified that her father owned three power lawn mowers he used in his business of tending lawns in West Monroe.

The state has called 53 witnesses in the case which is expected to continue throughout this week. The defense, court appointed, has plans to use an indefinite number of witnesses.

ELEMENT

Questioned about her visit to Baker's home on Friday, May 16, after she had been notified her father was missing and before his body had been found in the river, Mrs. Pool told the court she went into the house and found that the "only things missing were my father, his hat and his flashlight."

Another element entered the case when Lassiter concentrated on Mrs. Pool's description of Baker's bed. She told the jury that her father never had gone to bed without "turning back the covers," but when she went to his home she found that there was the impression of a person's head on the pillow without the bedclothing having been "turned back." No indication as to the significance of this line of questioning was forthcoming.

Dr. Burton said he could not say how long the body had been in the water nor when death had occurred.

Considerable attention was paid by defense counsel to Wilfred Primm, a filling station attendant who testified that about 11 p.m on May 15, he called a taxicab for a man he identified as Davis.

Next to take the stand was Hubert E. Sanders, a West Monroe jeweler, who identified wrist watches as those owned and traded by Baker.

Mrs. Pool told the court that her father had received a "disability" check which he took to the bank and cashed. She said he deposited $50 and retained the remainder, and that at the time of disappearance, her father must have had "between $50 and $60" in cash in his possession.

The court appointed counsel for Davis concentrated on the condition of the body when it was found and gave close scrutiny to all testimony by the three witnesses.

Under questioning, Dr. Burton told the defense that he could not testify as to the time of Baker's death, "more than a day or two."

band a year ago, after 17 years of marriage.

Mrs. Bergen and her husband moved to Cincinnati from Norfolk, Va., where Mrs. Bergen had been a circulation department employe of the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot and the Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch.

The body had been burned. An autopsy indicated her skull had been smashed. Dr. Frank Cleveland, Cincinnati pathologist, said the woman may have been alive when burned.

Detective Henry Sandman said Mrs. Klumpp told this story:

She met Mrs. Bergen at a suburban shopping center Last Oct. 30 to talk over the possibility of a divorce so that Mrs. Klumpp could marry the victim's husband, William.

She drove Mrs. Bergen to a secluded spot where "something happened and Mrs. Bergen was injured." She was vague about the injury.

Mrs. Klumpp did not indicate whether the victim was alive at the time.

But she said she put the body in the trunk of her car and drove home. After washing, went to teach her sewing class at an evening school.

The next day, Mrs. Klumpp bought a can of gasoline from a neighborhood station, drove to Lake Cowan and set the body afire.

Police said they recovered a gasoline can from the garage at Mrs. Klumpp's apartment last night.

Although Mrs. Bergen disappeared on Oct. 30, Sheriff Floyd Foote said he believed the body was not burned in the Lake Cowan weeds until the next day, since workmen in the area would have noticed it.

Since separating from her husband, Mrs. Bergen had been living with her mother and 9-year-old daughter, Linda Louise. Her disappearance had been reported by her husband on Oct. 31, after he was told by his mother-in-law.

The Bergen's had come here from Virginia.

firms Bridge represents allegedly participated in boycotts.

In its hearing Tuesday, the committee received testimony that Teamsters terrorists plotted bombings and other violence against truckers who defied them.

The committee placed in evidence a batch of secretly made tape recordings which purported to record the voices of Raymond C. Shafer and some other Teamsters officials in discussions of bombings and other violence. Shafer is business manager of Teamsters local 657 in San Antonio, Tex.

William R. (Buddy) Springer, a confessed former hoodlum, swore he had heard Shafer try to induce another man to shoot down San Antonio truck line operator Roy Gilbert, or throw a hand grenade stolen from the Army into Gilbert's house.

Springer, now a San Antonio garage worker, said he helped out on sabotage for Shafer because "I just didn't have the guts to go against him."

Shafer and several other Teamsters officials invoked the Fifth Amendment in refusing to say whether the tape recordings, made by Texas Rangers, carried their voices or whether they ever dealt in violence.

3. If left no choice, yield to East German controls while making it clear that this does not constitute recognition of the Communist regime. East Germans manning checkpoints would be regarded simply as agents of the Russians.

An alternative would be for the Allies to attempt an airlift similar to the one that broke the Soviet blockade in 1949.

Then, however, the Allies had to supply the 2,200,000 people of West Berlin. With civilian traffic not involved this time, an airlift would only have to supply the approximately 10,000 Western troops and civilian officials and families in West Berlin.

There is no assurance the Communists would let another Allied airlift proceed without harassment from their fighter planes. But it seemed unlikely they would precipitate a war by seriously interfering. The Russians continued to participate in air safety controls during the 1948-49 blockade.

While the Allies waited for the next Russian move, a U.S. Army truck convoy returned without incident from West Germany Tuesday night. The Russians stopped three trucks last Friday because the American soldiers had orders not to permit Soviet inspection of covered cargoes. Going West Tuesday, the convoy's cargo was uncovered. The two trucks and a jeep returned empty.

Unconfirmed reports circulated in Berlin that Moscow already was preparing formal notes advising the Allies to their decision to give their share of the occupation controls to the East Germans.

Call For Study Of Surprise Weapons

GENEVA (AP) — The Western Powers called on the Communists today to study the instruments of surprise attack and techniques useful in lessening the danger of such blows.

Former Italian Defense Minister Paolo Emilio Taviani advanced the proposal at the 10-nation conference on prevention of surprise attack.

Body Of Missing Wife Found In Israeli Territory

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—A search party today found the body of the missing wife of Britain's air attache to Israel. She had been shot dead on Israeli territory 150 yards from the Syrian frontier.

A bullet in the stomach had killed Joyce Doran, about 47, as she strolled in the border area near the point where the Jordan River flows into the Sea of Galilee.

The Israeli radio announced the police said the bullet was of a type usually used by Syrian snipers. Border warfare has gone on sporadically in that region for 10 years.

Wing Cmdr. Christian Doran, the air attache, was with the Israelis who found his wife's body.

Mrs. Doran had been missing since Monday.

On vacation for several days at the Italian hospice on the Mount of Beatitudes, she had left the hospice for a walk.

Tear Gas Breaks Up Student Mob

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) —A mob of University of Virginia students demonstrating against a clampdown on student automobiles was broken up by police tear gas early today.

A student spokesman said several students were injured by club-wielding police. But Police Chief J. E. Adams said no injuries were reported.

Adams said one student was arrested. He was not immediately identified.

John Healey, editor of the campus literary magazine, said approximately 3,000 of the university's 4,000 students participated in the demonstration. Adams estimated no more than 1,000 were involved.

Healey said chief cause of the riot was student resentment against a new university rule sharply limiting the number of students who can take automobiles onto the campus.

He said the students also protested against what he called a move by university administrators to supervise the content of student publications.

Adams said although tear gas was used to break up the demonstration he considered it a minor incident.

Killer Suspect Gives Up To FBI Agents

DENVER (AP) — A desperado accused of murdering a Boulder patrolman 10 days ago surrendered to FBI agents at his mother's home here Tuesday night.

Two hours later, agents found his partner strolling alone on the State Capitol grounds in downtown Denver.

Vernon Johnson, 31, and Vernon Sides, 32, had been sought since Nov. 9, when Patrolman Raymond J. McMaster, 30, was slain as he and another officer sought to question three men at a roadblock north of Boulder, 35 miles northwest.

Sides' brother, Revilo, 22, was arrested at Boulder several hours after the officer's death.

All three men have been charged with murder.

Scott Werner, FBI agent in charge here, said his agents found Johnson waiting at his mother's home. Werner said someone at the home — described as a friend of Johnson — called officers at Johnson's request.

Acting on information provided by a source other than Johnson, Werner's agents then found Sides near the Capitol.

Werner said both men were wounded slightly, presumably from the gunfight in which McMaster was slain.

Desks, Rooms Spotless, But Teachers Idle

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — This morning, as on every weekday, the teachers park their cars and walk into the fine building that was Central High School.

They hold a brief staff meeting and then go to their separate classrooms. The desks are polished, the rooms spotless. The chemistry and physics labs and the biology room are ready for experiments. On the row after row of lockers are the familiar combination locks put there early this fall in anticipation of school opening.

There is everything except pupils.

The teachers sit at their desks in the empty rooms. They try to make the day useful by devising improvements in their courses. Then they write letters, practice typing, read, look out the window.

For the 3,700 students of Central and Little Rock's three other high schools have scattered from coast to coast, enrolled in makeshift private schools, taken correspondence courses — or just given up their education temporarily.

USE OLD BUILDING

A few blocks away is an old building which bears the only resemblance to a high school in Little Rock today. It is a former orphanage, later used by the University of Arkansas Graduate Division.

It is the site of the Little Rock private high school, run on donations and staffed by 34 teachers who came out of retirement or are just beginning teacher. There are 217 seniors and 288 juniors here plus 312 sophomores in a new Sunday school building of the Highland Methodist Church nearby.

Predict Farming Assets To Rise

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department predicted Tuesday that the value of U. S. farm assets would rise by $13,300,000,000 to a new total of 200 billion dollars by next Jan. 1.

Department economists forecast a 7.1 per cent increase over the previous year as a result of higher income received by farmers in 1958, the further rise in farm real estate values and larger inventories of crops, machinery and livestock.

The value of farm real assets was placed at $186,700,000,000 on Jan. 1, 1958.

The department said the equities of farmers and other owners in agricultural property on Jan. 1 will be about 177 billion dollars, up 4½ per cent from a year earlier. Farm debt on Jan. 1 probably will be $122,600,000,000, up 11.9 per cent from the $20,200,000,000 of a year earlier. The real estate debt alone will be $11,200,000,000, up 6.7 per cent.

The value of farm real estate, which accounts for more than 60 per cent of all farm assets, rose 6 per cent in 1958 and may record a similar increase in 1959, the department said. The estimated value of farm real estate for next Jan. 1 probably will be $123,200,000,000 compared with $116,300,000,000 on Jan. 1, 1958.

The department said most of the forces behind the rise in prices in farm real estate since the upturn in 1954 still will be present in 1959. The carryover effects of higher farm income in 1958 and continued recovery of the general economy are likely to give additional impetus to the rise through the coming winter and early spring of 1959.

The department said the trend may lose some of its momentum in the last half of the year, however, if farm income declines as expected. Economists already have predicted a drop of 5 to 1 per cent in 1959 farm income.

The department also said costs are going up in 1959. It predicted total production expenditures by the first of the year will be 6 per cent greater than in 1957 and the trend will continue in 1959.

Wage rates paid to hired labor and prices paid for non-farm goods and services used in farming will average higher, the department said. It pointed out that even though farmers do have an improved credit and financial position, many have been spending more for family living and investing more in the farm business.

Governors Ink 'Equal Rights' Proclamation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The National Urban League Tuesday presented President Eisenhower with proclamations from governors of 30 states designating Wednesday as Equal Opportunity Day. Several deep South states did not join in the move.

In requesting the proclamations, the Urban League pointed out that regardless of the school desegregation controversy there was "overwhelming national support for the principle of equal opportunity in all fields, and most especially when that principle is applied to the business of making a living."

The league describes itself as an inter-racial, educational organization established to "further equal opportunity for Negroes in employment, education, housing and social welfare."

Gyro-Jet Latest Means Of Travel; Expect Boom

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — Within a year and a half you may be able to hop into your own helicopter and whirl off to work.

The president of a helicopter firm today set that target date for marketing a two-place helicopter coupe for civilians. He said the revolutionary craft would sell for about $5,000.

The tiny copter, called the Gyro-Jet will have fold-up rotors and can be driven on the ground from home or office to heliports, Gilbert Magill said in an interview. He is president of Rotor-Craft Corp. of Glendale.

In the air the all-weather, enclosed Gyro-Jet will have a top speed of 100 miles an hour and can cruise for 2½ hours. Highway speed will be 60 m.p.h.

"First prototypes of the craft will be in the air within six months," Magill said. "We have lined up 125 distributors and have orders for 6,500 machines the first year."

The factory has yet to complete its first prototype, however.

Rotor-Craft began developing small helicopters for the Navy eight years ago. The first was the pinwheel, designed to be strapped on a service man's back to lift him aloft for observation. The Gyro-Jet resulted from this research.

"Obtaining a license to fly the Gyro-Jet will be about as simple as getting a driver's license," Magill said. "Anyone who can drive a car can fly and drive the Gyro-Jet."

Red China, Russia Tightly Allied

The cement which holds Red China and Russia together is no uneasy alliance but an idealistic and material bond. There is only faint hope that war between Soviet Russia and Red China will enable the west—specifically Nationalist China—to reestablish control of the Chinese mainland.

With the shelling of the islands in the Formosa area by the Red Chinese shore guns, the question of Chiang Kai-shek's strength is made a paramount issue. Will we furnish that pro-western government enough arms to stage a counter attack or will we give just enough aid to prolong the erosion?

The answer to these questions would appear to leave us two choices—risk war with China and Russia or hang on and hope Russia and China go separate ways. Some of our diplomats have seen the latter as a faint glimmer of hope.

Even Adlai Stevenson has commented on the solidarity of the Communist "universal" state. "It would be a very great mistake to underestimate the present solidarity of the Soviet Union and China, or indeed as Mr. Khrushchev has implied, the whole Communist empire. They may fight like cats and dogs with each other, but as to the outside world, their unity is formidable. They will stick together. Their's is one universe; ours is another. The Polish foreign minister used the analogy of the family where emotional arguments at home do not mean disunion outside.

"And," concludes Mr. Stevenson's latest observation, "any idea that the Soviet Union and China especially can be divided is dangerous fantasy, at least for the present."

Of course, domestic political tides are not absent from the above statement. In 1956, the same democratic candidate for president was critical of the unyielding "brink of war" tactics of President Eisenhower and Sec. Dulles. Now that some solution is sought for the Formosa crisis—a solution without war — Mr. Stevenson steps in to criticize the administration for "unbrinking."

Incidents as the shelling of Quemoy and our slim hopes that Red China and Russia will dissolve partnership point up the gravity of world tensions far moreso than the space race. The cement holding the Soviet world together is devilishly tight.

Cactus Jack Will Be 90 On Saturday

John Nance (Cactus Jack) Garner, vice-president of the United States from 1933 through 1941 and one of the most colorful we have ever had, will be 90 years old Saturday and therefore will become our third nonagenarian farmer "Veep."

The first vice president, John Adams, lived more than six months after his 90th birthday. The 22d, Levi F. Morton, former Wall Street banker, went on to his 96th. Adams was only former President to reach 90.

The Texas where Garner was born in 1868 was about as different as could be from the Texas of 1958. No oil flowed and industry was practically non-existent. The state had only four seats in the House of Representatives, as against its 22 today. Anybody so rash as to predict it would some day vote for a Republican president, as it was to do in 1928, 1952, 1956, would undoubtedly have been shot.

State legislator, county juage, elected to the House for 15 successive terms, Garner became its minority leader in 1929, its Speaker in 1931. With his firm sense of party loyalty he helped to put across even New Deal legislation not exactly to his taste. Opposed to a third term for "The Chief," at the age of 71 he let his name be used for the 1940 presidential nomination. But he had only 61 votes at the convention (James A. Farley got 73), and retired to ruminate his own vine and fig tree.

It Was Four In The Afternoon

BY JIM BISHOP

It was four in the afternoon. This is the horse hour for Mr. Jim Sullivan. He sat behind his bar with a pencil and some newspapers handicapping horses who were born winded. Outside the bar sat Mr. Bill Armstrong, a handsome man with nervous fingers. He was watching the skull practice. So was Mr. Chief Dundas, the stout one who broods in moods.

All three have snow on the roof. They talked about the types of customers a poor innocent bartender meets now and then. Sullivan has the most experience. He's been tending bar since the days when the gentlemen drank the stuff out of ladies' slippers. And that's back beyond the starting gate.

Armstrong tends bar at the race tracks and, between figuring the daily double, and figuring the customers, he's a furlong this side of a breakdown all the time. Chief Dundas has corners on his head from dispensing drinks to ingrates. When he puts his hat on, the brim wrinkles.

"A good man is worth a C and a half," said Armstrong, "if he knows how to anticipate trouble. Anybody can mix drinks. Sometimes I see a guy coming in with a roving eye and I know we're all in trouble before he gets his first scotch."

"The main idea," said Sullivan, who growls at the people he likes, "is to run the bum off the premises before anything starts. Last night I caught a guy walking all the way around the bar to get friendly with a married couple sitting right here. Me, I don't wait. I just walked outside the bar, pointed to his seat, and yelled: 'Get back on third.' "

"Did he go?" said Chief. His lumps come from customers who didn't. Sullivan, a little man with a neon nose, opened his baby blue eyes in surprise. "Did he go?" he said. "He flew."

"If they're bright," said Armstrong, "they'll do like you tell them. I've had some poor specimens in my time. I swear a few of these characters didn't learn to wave by-by until they were 11 years old. That kind wants to outbluff you."

"The one who is just going off the wagon," said Chief sadly, "is a holy terror. He sits drumming the bar with his fingers and humming and he can't knock the doubles off fast enough. It's like watching somebody light a short-fuse."

"The one who gives me the shakes," said Sullivan, "is the broad who comes in and asks for a little sherry. In an hour, she's going to be crying or making passes at me. She sips and looks. And looks and sips. Either she just lost her husband or she's just trying to lose him."

"I don't know," said Armstrong. "You can chill that kind with a look. But the guy who is on the prowl starts casing the joint while waiting for the first drink. He's got rulers in his eyes. He measures every woman at the bar and, if he tells you to take a drink with his compliments to the lady in the feather boa, well, that's his target."

"How do you discourage that kind?" said Chief.

"I tell him that it's none of my business," said Armstrong, "but the lady in question is out on bail for pushing her boyfriend through a window. If that doesn't throw the halter on him, I tell him that's she's going with the cop who arrested her."

Sullivan removed a half - inch cigar from his face. "I'm leery of the woman who sits alone and spends a buck on the jukebox playing the same song. Then there's the guy who's looking for trouble. He always arrives with dignity. In an hour, he's walking around the bar tapping somebody on the shoulder and inviting him outside for just looking."

"How about the dopey one," said Chief. "The one who doesn't mean any harm but gets everybody else in trouble."

"I have one of those," said Sullivan. "You know Jake? Well Jake and his wife have been separated a couple of years. It's one of those things. Anyway, for the past two weeks he's been dating her and buying corsages and taking her to dinner. You know.

"These two belong together but she thinks he goes out with other women. Well, they're in here Saturday night and Kitty is sitting around the other side of the bar with her husband —"

"Oh no," said Armstrong.

"Oh yes," said Sullivan. "She came around to Jake about midnight and she said: 'I've seen you in here with some pretty plain looking dames, but this is the ugliest. Where'd you find this one?' " . . .

Lump Sum Death Payments

BY RAY HENRY

When someone dies in your family, you should always check with the Social Security Administration to see if a lump sum death payment is due.

Even though the deceased person has only worked in a job covered by the Social Security system a few years his survivors may be entitled to the lump sum.

The payment will be paid if the deceased person:

1. Had worked under Social Security for at least 18 of the last 36 months before his death, or

2. Had worked a total of between 1½ and 10 years under Social Security, or (The exact amount of time required depends on the age of the deceased and the date of his death.)

3. Was receiving Social Security payments when he died based on his own Social Security record.

The size of the payment can range from $99 to $255.

Except for persons already receiving Social Security payments, the exact amount of the lump sum is never known until death occurs.

The formula used in figuring the payments is: Three times the monthly payments the deceased person would have received had he lived to collect retirement payments or was receiving when he died. The maximum, however, is $255.

The lump sum is separate from, and in addition to, any other benefits to which members of the deceased worker's family may be entitled.

For example: It would be in addition to monthly payments to a person's surviving wife or husband or children.

The payment may be made to:

—The surviving widow or widower if he or she was living in the same household when the deceased died or paid the funeral expenses of the deceased, or

—Anyone else who paid the funeral expense if there is no such surviving widow or widower.

But, like all Social Security payments, the lump sum payment must be applied for at the nearest Social Security office.

The payment must be applied for, in almost every case, by the person eligible to receive it.

Now comes the question: Suppose the surviving widow didn't pay the funeral expenses. Some one else paid them. What happens to the lump sum payment?

The payment always goes to the surviving wife or husband no matter who paid the funeral expenses as long as he or she was living with the deceased when he died.

For example: Stacy Jones dies. His brother pays for the funeral. His wife can still go to the Social Security office, claim and get the lump sum if she was living with Jones when he died. If Jones' brother wants to be reimbursed for the expense, it's a problem between him and Mrs. Jones.

But, suppose Tom Johnson dies. He leaves no widow. His wife died some years ago. But, he does leave several children and aged parents. Can't any of them claim the lump sum payment as next-of-kin?

No. Only the person who in this case pays the funeral expenses can make the claim and get the money.

Two Per Cent Of Eligible Voters Decided Recent Election

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Less than 2 per cent of the eligible voters in the United States decided the congressional election this year-about 1,60,000 out of 10,000,000.

These facts emerge from an examination of the statistics of the voting outside the Solid South and the border states, nearly all of whose congressional districts usually vote under the Democratic party label.

Approximately 52 per cent of the voters in the North voted Democratic this time and 48 per cent Republican. This is a spread of four percentage points, and out of the approximately 41,000,000 votes cast in the congressional elections in the West, North and East, this means that about 1,600,000 voters swung the election.

These are the "switch voters." Sometimes they are called "independents," though this word implies that they carefully weigh the merits of the argument and come to a judicial conclusion. Actually, they are the people who vote "against" the party in power no matter what its name. They don't vote in favor of a particular set of policies or programs—they simply record their disapproval of things as they are.

Dr. George Gallup, the eminent director of public-opinion surveys, discussing this very point in an article last week, said:

"It is important in describing what happened to note that a great deal of the gain in the Democratic vote since 1954 occurred among farmers, business and professional people, and white-collar workers—or the 'forgotten salaried man.' Among manual workers and union members, the division of the vote this year was virtually the same as four years ago."

The economic "recession" affected, on the whole, a relatively small group, since unemployment itself was geographically "spotty." Yet it doesn't take many voters in the so-called "discontented" group to swing an election. By spreading 1,600,000 votes over a relatively few congressional districts, it is possible for a sizable majority of seats to be attained.

Subtracting the 129 Democrats elected — hardly any of them "modernists" — in the districts in the South and border states which usually go Democratic and where there are rarely any contesting candidates offered by the Republican party, the score in the November election in the North, East and West this year was 154 Democrats to 141 Republicans. This is a margin of 13. Not included in the 141 Republican total are the 11 Republicans elected in the border states and in the South, nearly every one of whom opposed "integration." Actually, it seems plausible to estimate that far fewer than 1,600,000 votes swung the election. This is because in many districts in the northern cities usually Democratic, the total was simply increased beyond the normal figure.

Why, it may be asked ,was it possible for such a small percentage of the total eligible vote to be so influential in the result? One answer is that the "contented" citizens for the most part didn't go to the polls, nor did all the protesting individuals inside the Republican party. Lots of the "indifferent" Republicans did not even register. Many are in the class who, in an economic sense, are contented but fail to vote for a variety of reasons — usually they don't see much difference between the "modern Republicans" and the New Deal Democrats.

The "discontented" vote for the most part, however, not only registered but cast its ballot. Aside from unemployment, the "discontent" on the Republican side was greatest among farmer and small businesses. "Modern Republicanism" hasn't offered as yet anything to attract them. In many of these districts "Modern Republican" nominees also went down to defeat.

Not all the "discontent" was economic. It should give the new champions of "Modern Republicanism" something to think about. They should take a second look at California, where a private poll made during the recent campaign by a reputable organization showed that "integration" was placed higher on the list of issues by those citizens interviewed than any other single topic of national importance. Resentment over the use of federal troops at Little Rock and over enforced "integration" was given by many a voter as his reason for being at odds with the Republican party. The so-called "appreciation" vote on this issue was negligible, as was to be seen also in the big eastern cities where the Negro wards went almost as heavily Democratic in the congressional elections as before.

Will 1960's presidential election be any different? Unfortunately, under the present system, the majority party in control of both houses of Congress will not be held responsible for what happens in the next two years. The vote in 1960 wil be "against" the present Republican regime in the White House unless there's a boom in employment and some of the emotional issues are cleared up. It will not matter much who the candidates are in either party — how personable or glamorous the nominee on one side or how unspectacular and inadequate a personality on the other side. If the mood of the voters is negative again, the Democrats will have another victory, and it will not be close either.

The only chance of a close election may come if the South bolts the Democratic party. This could throw the presidential election into the House of Representatives for decision. It might result from use of a "write-in" vote for presidential electors. Such a formula would permit the regular nominees of the Democratic party for the House and Senate to win while giving the electoral votes of each state to independent candidates outside the Democratic party. It could mount up to a block of 131 electoral votes that might prevent either major party candidate from getting a majority in the Electoral College.

Ike's Election Post-Mortems Blunt, And Extremely Candid

BY FULTON LEWIS

WASHINGTON — The election post-mortems which Ike has been holding quietly with his Cabinet members and staff advisers, individually and collectively, have been blunt, candid and significant.

For the first time in his six-year presidential adventure, his vanity has jolted him into at least some discussion of the political responsibilities of his office. It is not to be expected that he will make any frenzied crusade in party reorganization but he does show signs of facing some facts of life and of climbing down off Cloud Seven. Pride does that.

His principal mentors are Postmaster General Summerfield, who was GOP national chairman during the campaign that put him into office, Ezra Taft Benson, who has been the most consistently constant contact with the grass roots in the entire official family over the past six years, and Secretary of the Interior Fred Seaton and Vice President Nixon who, between them, carried the bulk of national level load durning thepast campaign.

The unanimous verdict is that lack of contact between Washington, particularly the National Committee, and the candidates in the field, was chiefly responsible for the debacle of the ballots.

And the dereliction was not one of the last moment. It began with the coup d'etat of the party by the effete New York-led Citizens for Eisenhower group after the Chicago convention of 1952 when party faithfuls, who had spent 15 years of arduous building of a finally successful political organization, were shouldered rudely out of the picture by Johnny-come-lately playboys who wanted a place in the Washington social sun.

As of election day, 1952, the party had perhaps the most effective and smoothly functioning political organization the country has seen since the early days of Jim Farley.

The fact that shocked the President most deeply was to learn that under the freeze-out dictatorship of Sherman Adams not one attempt was ever made to get that organization back together again or to beckon any of the key figures back into service.

The difficulty, for purposes of November Fourth, is that it was too late when the White House team awoke to the seriousness of the political shambles which Adams had created.

Three weeks before election day, Summerfield happened back to his home state of Michigan for a look-see and found that Republican stronghold all but down the drain already. There was no money, no radio or TV time, no billboards, no newspaper space, no leadership and worst of all no organization.

He called in some old reliables, long since alienated by the modernist interlopers, and managed to save most if not all of the Republican House members, and to cut the majority of Governor G. Mennen "Soapy" Williams from 300,000 votes last time to 150,000 this time.

The important lesson, however, was that all candidates who took firm, forthright conventional Republican positions came through. The double-talking mealy-mouths, including incumbent Senator Charles Potter, went hungry. In some cases the margin of victory for the stalwarts went skyrocketing, even in such UAW-Reuther bastions as Flint.

In the meantime, in the agonizing appraisal, GOP Chairman Meade Alcorn's own state of Connecticut was being swept clean by the Democrats, by way of voter comment on his own petty-fogging and timidity, and elsewhere over the country the pattern was the same. If the voters wanted a liberal, they selected the genuine product, not an ersatz, mincing compromise.

In over all summary, the political reincarnation in the official White House family has contained these important ingredients:

The dilettante modern Republicanism is completely discredited and it does not even have a spokesman in present top councils.

Meade Alcorn is on tacit probation, to build an effective national organization or get out.

How To Keep Well

SERIOUS ASPECTS OF NEGLECTD ULCER

Treatment of petic ulcer centers about rest, diet, neutralization of acid, lessening the churning movements of the stomach, and minimizing stress. Many medicines are available and every year new and improved products are introduced.

What happens to an ulcer victim who refused to go on a diet or take his medicine? Some, with luck, will get well despite anything they do or don't do. But the majority will be plagued with pain daily. These bouts may subside temporarily but are likely to return when least expected.

Others are in for serious trouble when they develop complications such as hemorrhage, perforation, or obstruction. It is here that the ugly side of the ulcer picture comes to the fore.

An ulcer is an open sore. Unless treated, the crater grows deeper and deeper, and in time erodes completely thru the wall of the stomach or duodenum. When perforation occurs, the acid contents of the stomach escape into the abdominal cavity to produce a chemical peritonitis. The ensuing pain is shocking; some feel as tho they have been kicked in the abdomen by a mule. Surgery at the earliest possible time is necessary.

Hemorrhage is equally serious. When profuse, the individual feels faint, develops a salty taste in the mouth, and regurgitates a pint or more of red blood. When bleeding is less profuse, the vomitus is dark brown, due to the effect of gastric juice in the blood. The stools also become tarry in color. Hemorrhage usually stops spontaneously but surgery is needed when it persists or recurs.

Obstruction is caused by the gradual development of scar tissue that closes the exit of the stomach. The gastric contents cannot pass into the intestine, and when the organ fills, the individual vomits to obtain relief. Starvation ensues unless surgery is performed.

YELLOWISH PLAQUES

W. L. S. writes: Is xanthoma merely a skin disorder or does it signify an underlying disturlying disturbance?

REPLY

These yellowish plaques frequently are an external mainfestation of an internal disorder of fat metabolism. There are various types of xanthomas, but in general a diet low in fat is suggested. In some instances the condition is associated with diabetics; in others, the metabolic defect is traced to a liver disturbance.

INFECTION AND ARTHRITIS

N. W. writes: Could an infected gall bladder cause arthitis of the joints?

REPLY

I doubt it. In the past, arthritis freqently was blamed on a focus of infection in the body, such as in the teeth, tonsils or gall bladder. We now know that this rarely is so. On the other hand, eliminating nests of infection improves health so that the system is better able to combat arthritis.

NECK STIFFNESS

R. N. Writes: What is the cause of periodic stiff neck not brought on by a draft?

REPLY

Inflammation and tension of the muscles and fibrous tissues are most common causes. Other possibilities include arthritis or slipped disk in the upper spine.

EXCESS IRON

L. F. writes: Is there such a thing as getting too much iron in the system from iron-rich foods?

REPLY

No. The body uses as much iron as it needs; the excess is not absorbed.

ONCE SPARKLING COLD

Farmer In Fever Over Hot Well

MONMOUTH, Ill. (AP)—Farmer Chalmer Lovdahl has a hot well on his farm and he's in a little fever about it.

The 30-foot well, Lovdahl said, had furnished sparkling and cold water for his household for 36 year until last August.

"The water was far colder and better for drinking than water from a nearby well—125 feet deep—that I use for my stock," Lovdahl said.

But the water in the smaller well began warming up last August. It became progressively warmer and recently it leveled off at 101 degrees, where it has remained.

Lovdahl called in experts from the University of Illinois and the State Health Department to explain the phenomenon. No satisfactory explanations were given.

Lovdahl said he's undecided whether to move away on the theory he is living on top of an incipient volcano or to harness the water to his hot water heating system and forget about fuel bills.

Retirees attending the affair included: J. N. Alford, W. R. Honea, B. T. Cash, J. H. Finklea, Joe Zager, C. S. Lee, J. D. Wassan, G. A. Mercer, W. A. Singleton, J. T. Wilbanks, J. C. Kelly, B. H. Mayes, W. Thomisee, W. W. Jackson and George Decuir.

T. P. Roberts, J. E. Lenard, W. H. Goodwin, W. S. Pierce, F. P. Babin, F. A. Hines, A. S. Brown, A. M. Coates, A. J. Reid, C. E. Wilds, D. C. Metcalf, J. M. Hilton, R. W. Bandy, W. L. Anders and L. L. Banks.

R. F. Caldwell, division industrial relations manager for OMCC, spoke briefly on "The Fruits and Benefits of Retirement." D. C. Metcalf, C. E. Wilds, F. A. Hines and J. M. Hilton then described their uses of retirement and related several humorous post-retirement happenings.

Since the initiation of the retirement plan in January of 1956 by Olin Mathieson at its West Monroe facilities, 57 persons have been retired. The supper was another in a series of annual affairs which OMCC provides for its former employees.

Pair Caught In Shreveport After Holdup

SHREVEPORT (UPI)— Detectives captured a husky ex-marine and an amateur guitar player at gunpoint Tuesday less than 20 hours after the pair robbed a grocery store in a daring daylight stickup.

The two bandits were identified as Dennis Rah McCaslin, 23, Oklahoma City, Okla., and Billy Carlton Bramlett, 21, Fort Smith, Ark. They got more than $120 in the holdup.

Sgts. Bert Morgan and J. B. Ford took McCaslin at a motel and jammed a gun in the back of Bramlett at a downtown cocktail lounge. Neither offered resistance.

McCaslin, who offered to play officers a hillbilly tune on his guitar, tried to take the blame for the stickup. He said he went to Arkansas, picked up Bramlett and brought him to Shreveport to "see a girl."

"Buddy-boy, I'm a man and take the blame for what I do," Bramlett, a former Marine mechanic growled. "You worry about yourself."

The pair said they had been drinking, were broke and "needed some quick cash."

They flashed guns at the grocery store manager and three customers in the robbery, and then fled on foot in a heavy rainstorm.

La. Forestry Group Hears 2 Local Men

ALEXANDRIA (Special) — J. S. Trichel of West Monroe yesterday stressed that existing research agencies are capable of handling soil and conservation problems, at a session of the executive committee of the Louisiana Forestry Association.

Trichel and J. S. McWilliams of Monroe appeared before the group, which met to consider problems and goals of forestry.

The West Monroe man pointed out that a new research agency is "not the answer," and urged that present agencies be given enough money "to get the job done."

Trichel pointed out that the well-organized research organizations of the U. S. forestry service and land grant colleges are "ready, willing and able to do the job."

A member of the association for water conservation, Trichel will represent the forestry group at a public hearing in New Orleans tomorrow. The hearing is under the auspices of the U. S. Senate committee on agricultural appropriations.

His recommendations were approved by the forestry group.

A program to accelerate promotion of hardwood forestry was submitted by J. S. McWilliams, Monroe, chairman of the hardwood development committee.

McWilliams outlined plans for promoting hardwood tree farms in the Northeast Louisiana Delta.

State Forester James E. Mixon reported that the Louisiana Forestry Commission plans to begin production of hardwood seedlings at the three state nurseries this year.

Stocks Retrace Tuesday's Losses

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks retraced some of Tuesday's losses in a more active session today but considerable realizing of profits acted as a brake against a sharp advance.

Traders moved cautiously for two reasons: 1. Many anticipated a rise in margins to 100 per cent when the Federal Reserve meets Thursday. That would mean an end of margin trading. 2. A drop of considerable size was foresee in the short interest figures to be announced after the close. A cut in this statistic would mean a reduction in potential buying.

Railroads penetrated their high for more than a year thanks to strength in Norfolk & Western which ran up 3 points. Te .. Pacific, outside the group making up the average, had a similar gain. Others moved narrowly.

Utilities, helped by strength in Cleveland Electric Illuminating and Peoples Gas set a new high for 28 years.

Industrials had a small rise but insufficient to wipe out Tuesday's decline.

Steel shares firmed with National up a point. Motors slipped back slightly. Aircrafts had several strong spots. Chemicals generally showed gains.

Noon Dow Jones averages: Industrial 565.15 up 0.26; rail 156.78 up 0.67; utility 87.47 up 0.12; and 65 stocks 196.87 up 0.28.

Unable To Find Cause Of Death

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Sheriff Dave Gayden said today a pathologist was unable to determine what killed Mrs. Laverne Summers Smith, 51-year-old woman whose body was found in a shallow ditch by a rural road yesterday.

Gayden, sheriff of adjoining Rankin County, said the doctor advised that Mrs. Smith did not drown and that there was no sign of physical violence but that her heart was collapsed.

A stomach analysis by Mississippi State University exports is expected in two days and officers hoped that would show how she died.

A passerby found the family car off the road yesterday, with Mrs. Smith's body nearby.

Carl Smith, 58, her husband, was by the car.

H told officers he and his wife went out to get some whisky and their car ran off the road. The Jackson painter was charged with drunken driving.

The car was not damaged.

Mrs. Smith wore only a tee shirt, shoes and a coat when her body was found. Smith said they were at home and his wife "just put on a coat and came with me."

Smith, officers said, told them she was a narcotics addict and had once received treatment at the state hospital at Whitfield.

Officers continued their investigation.

Funeral services for Mrs. Smith will be held tomorrow.

Officers asked for the pathologist report after noting marks around her eyes.

Hunt Continues For 6 Persons In Winter Wastes

Six persons lost in winter's first major storm were being sought today in three Western states.

Three are Tucson, Ariz., Boy Scouts—Mike Early, 16; David Greenberg, 12; and Michael Lanoue, 13, stranded in the snowy Santa Rita Mountains near Tucson Saturday. Hope for their survival lay principally in how well they remembered their training.

The others are airmen.

Capt. Donald Liggett, 40, Indianapolis, Ind., was the navigator of a C119 transport that crashed in eastern Idaho Friday. Four of his companions were rescued. Three died in the storm. Search efforts were being directed from Hill Air Force Base, Utah.

Pilot F. L. Courtell, Haywood, Calif., and crewman Calvin Cloud, Napa, Calif., have been missing since their C46 cargo plane crashed on a mountain near Fort Collins, Colo., in a blizzard Sunday. Wreckage, believed that of their plane, was sighted Tuesday. There was no sign of life.

Points To Widow As Bakery Bandit

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The victim of a holdup pointed to widowed housewife, Mrs. Vesta Norrid, 47, as the woman who robbed her bakery of $95.21 at gunpoint last September.

The bakery clerk, Mrs. Camille Livermore, told a court Tuesday that Mrs. Norrid purchased two eclairs, then said "don't you dare say anything. My children are starving," as she demanded the money from the cash register.

A 12-man jury is trying the case. Mrs. Norrid, mother of two children, denied any part of the holdup and is the first woman to be tried on charges of armed robbery in Orleans parish in more than ten years.

Pilots, Airlines Deny Jet Race

NEW YORK (AP)—When is a jet plane race not a jet plane race? When their pilots say it isn't.

An American jet airliner twice spotted a British jet airliner head starts Tuesday on the London-to-New York route and then arrived here first.

Both pilots insisted the flights were routine — with no race involved. The airlines agreed.

The victor by 11 minutes in the race that was not a race was an American-built Boeing 707 airliner flown by Pan American Airways.

Its flying time from London was 7 hours, 27 minutes.

That was 53 minutes faster than the time required by the British Overseas Airways Corp.'s Comet IV.

The British beat the Americans into the air with transatlantic jet passenger service, and this was the first opportunity since the Americans joined the field for a flight-to-flight comparison.

The Comet IV left London at 5:34 a.m. EST. The Pan Am jet, took off 36 minutes later and gained 27 minutes over the Atlantic before both planes landed at Gander, Nfld.

The Comet also preceded the Boeing out of Gander—by 15 minutes—only to be overtaken en route to New York.

Save Farms, Unite, Urges Rep. Passman

WINNSBORO (Special)—Franklin Parish farmers were urged to "unite, to save agriculture and the farmer" by Rep. Otto E. Passman and Louisiana Farm Bureau Presi-L. L. Lovell yesterday, at a parish Farm Bureau meet here.

The membership drive kick-off session for the Farm Bureau was held in the agricultral auditorium of the parish courthouse.

J. E. Fletcher, chairman of the meeting, Lantz Womack, Franklin Parish Representative, and Parish Farm Bureau president, and C. J. Grayson of Fort Necessity, president of the Northeast Louisiana Power Coop., made brief talks.

Membership goal for Franklin is 850 and the quota is 600. To date only 375 Farm Bureau members have been obtained and the membership drive ends Nov. 28.

Attending the meeting were 19 farmers and 11 businessmen.

ORGANIZATION

Passman said, "in time of trouble, need for organization increases. The number of farmers are decreasing and the need for uniting is more important. Disaster conditions in Franklin are worse than in any parish in the state. Farmers here need a united voice so they can speak and be heard. National farm income has decreased from $15 billion, $300 million in 1952 to $10 billion, 600 million in 1957. Only 12 percent of the nations populations are engaged in agriculture. Every segment of the American economy except farms is well represented in Washington."

Sixty-two of 64 parishes have a strong, workable Farm Bureau and a larage membership will give President Lovelle more power to work for the farmers. Small farmers will benefit just as much as large farmers. All should join and become part of the Farm Bureau," Passman continued.

Lovelle explained that agriculture is in a period of transaction from hand labor to machinery. And that the farmer is the only one who can say just how fast this transaction is to take place.

In urging farmers to join the Farm Bureau, Lovelle said, "if you are not willing to get out and fight for your rights to make a living, don't cry when the right is taken away from you. We failed to pass amendment No. 8 in the recent election because we still haven't got the organization needed. If we are to save agriculture and save the farmer, we must have organization and present a united front. The Farm Bureau is not a luxury but a necessity. If we continue to exist in agriculture, it must be through a strong Farm Bureau."

Pretty Teller Foils Bandit's Robbery Plans

Elizabeth, N.J. (AP)—A pretty girl who doesn't scare easily foiled Louis J. Cerruti and his elaborate bank robbery plans.

Miss Elaine Gapch, 20, is a teller at the National State Bank. She was working quietly Tuesday when Cerruti, an unemployed travel agent handed her a note demanding all her cash and threatening harm to her mother and brother if she sounded an alarm.

Miss Gapch quietly read the note, handed Cerruti $4,000 and pulled an equally quiet police alarm.

Cerruti was met at the door of the bank by two patrolmen. "I'm the man. Don't hurt me," he said.

Police said that Cerruti, 33, married and the father of five children, was heavily in debt.

He learned Miss Gapch's identity and called her mother on the telephone. He told her he represented a television show.

In answer to his questions, Mrs. Adele Gapch of Roselle Park told him she has two sons, Thomas and Paul, who are pupils at Robert Gordon School. She confirmed that Elaine is her daughter.

Cerruti then composed the note which he presented to Elaine. It indicated that her brother Paul and mother were being held and would be shot unless she followed instructions.

Cerruti and his family occupy a $115-a-month apartment in Jersey City. He was charged with robbery.

Long Admires Local Try On School Funds

BATON ROUGE (AP) —Gov. Earl Long said Tuesday he admired the school people of New Orleans for at least trying to find more local money for schools.

Long avoided saying whether he favored a House-passed resolution calling for an investigation of the New Orleans School Board.

The controversial measure requires Senate approval for final passage when the special legislative session returns next Friday at 11:30 p.m. for final adjournment.

Rep. Nick Lapara of Orleans Parish, an administration supporter, barely pushed through the resolution 26-25 last Sunday night.

Lapara had the help of House Speaker Robert Angelle, an administration leader. But other administration sources appeared cool.

In his news conference, Long emphasized that with so few legislators voting, the decision was close.

"I wouldn't think the New Orleans school board is different from any other," he remarked.

Lapara told the House, when it acted last Sunday, he had reason to believe there may be a lot of waste in the New Orleans school system."

Long commented, "They're doing all they can to get by with funds short.

"I admire New Orleans for trying ot find a local remedy." Long added, "even though it was defeated."

Efforts to boost local property taxes for schools failed at the polls in New Orleans recently.

Long showed his feelings about more local taxes to help solve revenue problems by saying such efforts "would stop a lot of newspaper criticism of us."

$40,000 Asked In Damages After Fall From Horse

Slated for today's session of U.S. District Court here is a lawsuit in which a Natchez, Miss., man is asking $40,000 damages from a Vidalia man as the result of a fall from a horse.

H. P. Frank sets out in his petition that he was trying out a horse owned by John Dale III, when the horse started bucking. Frank said he attempted to jump off the animal and suffered the injuries around which the suit is base.

This is the last of 40 cases originally scheduled for the November term of the U. S. District Court, Western District of Louisiana, Monroe Division.

Next federal trial here will be a criminal case on Dec. 2.

Frank alleges that e suffered injuries to his knee, which resulted in $600 worth of medical attention. He also claims the loss of $1,500 when he was unable to work for 10 weeks, and $1,500 for 15 additional weeks while he could not ride.

HANDLING

In addition, he states that due to the condition of his knee he has lost much of his skill and efficiency in handling horses and cattle.

The suit states that on July 5, 1957, Frank contacted Dale about purchasing another horse and that Dale advised him that this horse was gentle and would make a good cow pony.

It continues that Dale invited Frank to try out the animal and added that he would sell it for $300.

Frank charges that when he tried to ride the animal on July 13, 1958, it began bucking and since he had a hernia and had not worn any support that day, he jumped off to avoid injury to his stomach.

He states that Dale was negligent in allowing him to ride a horse that had not been ridden for three month- without warning him of this. He adds that he feels it was Dale's duty to make sure the horse was gentle before saying so.

The Vidalia resident's attorneys admit that the horse had not been ridden for three or four months, but counter that Dale informed Frank of this on July 5, during the first phone conversation.

They deny that Dale told Frank the horse was gentle and had been ridden recently, and admit only that he invited Frank to see and ride the animal.

Power's Mother Won't Be Told

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The body of Tyrone Power will be interred near the crypt of Rudolph Valentino, but Power's mother, 70 and ill, won't be told of her son's death.

"The news would kill her," a maid said Tuesday.

The disclosure recalls the benevolent family conspiracy that kept the mother of crooner Russ Colombo ignorant of her son's death. She died in 1944 unaware the crooner accidentally had shot himself 10 years before while examining an old Civil War pistol.

Power's mother, who lives quietly in a Hollywood home with a nurse and a maid, suffered a stroke several years ago. "We don't have a radio in the house and we only let her watch certain programs on television," the maid said.

Power, who died Saturday of a heart attack on a movie location in Spain, was a devoted son. He visited his mother frequently while in Hollywood and sent her a constant flow of cards when away.

The body of the 44-year-old actor was scheduled to arrive by plane tonight accompanied by his widow, the former Debbie Ann Minardos. She expects a baby in February.

Funeral services were tentatively scheduled for Thursday noon.

However, a Catholic source here said that it is doubtful Power can be buried in the Catholic faith. Although born and baptized a Catholic, a source said, Power automatically excommunicated himself when he married the former Mrs. Minardos, a divorcee and the actor's third wife.

The church considers Power's marriage to his second wife, actress Linda Christian, still a valid marriage. His first marriage to actress Annabella was not valid in the eyes of the church.

Miss Christian arrived Tuesday night from Paris and New York. Miss Christian's and Power's two daughters, Romina Francesca, 8, and Taryn Stephanie, 6, arrived from Mexico City where they had been living with their grandmother. The children have not been told of their father's death.

Miss Christian said Power told her last May that he had a heart condition and then informed her a few days later that the diagnosis was incorrect.

She said she urged him to take another examination but that he indicated to her he would rather not know.

The actress said she knew of an insurance policy taken out by Power through Lloyd's of London to provide continued payment of her estimated million-dollar alimony settlement in their 1955 divorce.

Jap Prince Pays Respect To Ancestor

TOKYO (AP) — Crown Prince Akhito worshipped at the shrine of his great grandfather today, arousing speculation that he had informed his ancestor's spirit that he soon will become engaged.

The young prince paid his respects to the spirit of the Emperor Meiji, founder of the modern Japan, at the newly rebuilt Meiji shrine, destroyed in wartime bombings.

By Japanese custom, major events and decisions, especially those involving family relationships, are reported to the spirits of ancestors at family shrines.

In Tokyo, meanwhile, the director general of the imperial household, Tsuyoshi Usami, conferred for 30 minutes with Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi.

The subject of their talk was not disclosed, but both are members of the 10-member Imperial Court Council which by law must give its approval of Akihito's bride.

Sources in a position to know have reported that Akihito, 25 next month, has decided to marry Michiko Shoda, 24, daughter of a wealthy flour company president.

SPUTNIK SECRECY

Russians Miss Important Data

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Russians missed the strangest discovery in space because they kept secret the language of their Sputniks, a U.S. scientist said today.

In fact, American scientists, beaten into space by the Sputniks, first discovered the strange field of cosmic rays that circles the earth.

It is this deadly cosmic radiation that is the greatest threat to man's plans in space.

The Russians refused to exchange their early Sputnik findings or their Sputnik code, reported Geoffry Robillard of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory before a meeting of the American Rocket Society.

Thus they missed much of the information their Sputniks were gathering.

Sputnik orbits were generally at their lowest points over Russia and at their highest over other parts of the world, especially near the Equator, Robillard said.

When the Sputniks passed over Russia, they reported only minor cosmic rays found at low altitudes.

But at high altitudes, where the heavy cosmic ray field is found, the Sputniks wasted their messages on parts of the world that could not understand their beeping. They were then out of range of Russian radio reception.

Explorer III, the second satellite launched by the U.S. Army, gathered cosmic ray data from complete trips around the earth. It stored this information on magnetic tape and poured it back to U.S. scientists on order from a radio signal.

The Russians used tape recorders too — but apparently not for the cosmic ray data, Robillard said.

Russian and U.S. satellites just don't agree about another element of space — cosmic dust.

Explorer I found that cosmic dust would be no great problem for the space traveler — but it was adding some 2,000 tons to the mass of the earth each year.

The Russians said their Sputniks found cosmic dust 1,000 times as heavy raining down on the earth.

Robillard said if the Russian figures were true, the earth would be gaining mass so quickly its rotation would have noticeably changed over the centuries.

Morgan Doesn't Think Getting Answer Important

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Henry Morgan is a panelist of "I've Got A Secret" who refuses to believe that getting the right answer is a life or death matter.

As a matter of fact, Morgan once went for six months on the Wednesday evening CBS-TV panel quiz show without guessing anything correctly.

"Nobody seemed to notice it," he said the other day. "I scarcely noticed it myself. Audiences generally think that panelists are dumber than they are anyway. I'd rather have fun on the show than get the right answer."

"I've Got A Secret," with Garry Moore as host, has been on television seven years now. Morgan has been on the panel since a few weeks after the program began.

Morgan believes that in general among TV quiz panelists "Women take it much harder than men when they fail to come up with the right answer. I suppose it traces back to the battle of the sexes. They want to prove that they're as bright as men."

As far as can be ascertained Morgan has only one prejudice in the great game of guessing on TV.

"I don't like animals on TV. Garry likes 'em and every once in a while he brings one on. But I can't stand 'em. I refuse to ask an animal a question on television. It's idiotic."

Besides appearing on "I've Got A Secret," Morgan offers an interesting program on CBS Radio Sunday evenings called Sez Who?" and does two broadcasts a week for a local New York FM station.

Inclined to be pessimistic, Morgan nevertheless optimistically sees signs of intelligent conversation returning to television.

"I've been waiting for the day," he said, "when you actually could go on television and have fun with ideas and things. There are signs of it now in Ed Murrow's 'Small World' and in that week of conversations Arthur Godfrey had on his morning program with Jackie Gleason.

"That sort of thing has to come back or we're all dead."

EXHAUST CONTROL

Official Raps Auto Makers

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Los Angeles official says automobile manufacturers have failed to offer any effective plan for controlling air contamination caused by auto exhaust.

This controversy erupted Tuesday at a national conference on air pollution called by the U.S. Public Health Service.

Harry A. Williams, managing director of the Automobile Manufacturers Assn., told the meeting his industry was spending a million dollars a year to try to find an effective way to control pollutants from auto exhaust. But he conceded he could not say all problems of auto exhaust had been solved or were about to be.

Warren Dorn, a member of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors said Williams' speech was "disappointing and contemptuous."

"The Automobile Manufacturers Assn. report is utterly lacking in promise or hope of any effective program," Dorn said in a statement.

Williams said in his speech that some devices for auto exhaust control, developed in the laboratory, have shown promise but that they are not yet practical enough to be put into production.

In this second day of the meeting, the 800 participants turned to a series of technical and scientific discussions designed to help them formulate recommendations for an anti-pollution program.

Beck Used Money For Patio Top

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Ex-Teamsters Union President Dave Beck Sr. told newsmen Tuesday he took $798 of union funds to construct an awning over his patio because he used the area to entertain union personnel.

Beck's corridor comment came after government attorneys introduced evidence showing that amount taken from a Teamsters' legal fund at the same time the awning was purchased.

The government continued to present testimony concerning Beck's purchases in an effort to prove that his tax returns for 1950-53 did not represent his true income. Beck, 64, is charged specifically with evasion of $240,000 in income taxes.

Beck's grocer, Percy Peters, told the federal court jury the union president's food bill rose from $1,871 in 1950 to $2,238 in 1953.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Jack Obenour then introduced evidence to show some of the bills had been paid by Fred Verschueren Sr. auditor for the Western Conference of Teamsters.

Verschueren has been charged with conspiring with Beck to avoid payment of Beck's income tax. He is to be tried later.

Other witnesses testified about numerous improvements Beck made to his luxurious Sheridan Beach home on Seattle's Lake Washington.

George Strom of the Cyclone Fence Co. said he had installed about $2,000 worth of fencing around the grounds.

Heir's Wife Gets Thorough Search While In Jail

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mrs. Horace Dodge underwent a brassiere search by policewomen while a male bluecoat stood by when she was jailed on a charge of intoxication, a municipal court jury was told.

Mrs. Dodge is the wife of auto heir Horace Dodge II. Her trial on three counts of battery and one of drunkenness resumed today.

Policewoman Gail Rice, under cross examination Tuesday, told of frisking Mrs. Dodge's brassiere and removing her stockings while a male officer was standing nearby.

Miss Rice testified that Mrs. Dodge spit and tried to bite officers when they arrested her last Aug. 26 in the company of Chicago newspaper columnist Irv Kupcinet.

Miss Rice and another policewoman, Marilyn Sperry, have filed separate civil actions for $170,000 each against Mrs. Dodge, alleging battery.

Kupcinet awaits trial Dec. 10 on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor.

Negro Charges Discrimination In Music Work

NEW YORK (AP) — An iron curtain of discrimination bars most Negroes from jobs in orchestral music in New York, says the Urban League.

Mrs. Shia Jacobs, leagus president, told a news conference yesterday "the general opinion of the community is that the Negro musician experiences little or no discrimination. This unfortunately is not true. . . ."

She said Negroes are discriminated against "in every branch of the music industry—orchestral musicians, composers, arrangers, contractors, managers and so forth."

The Urban League, whose membership includes Negroes and whites, seeks to promote equality of opportunity in jobs and housing and to improve racial relationships generally.

The league's industrial relations secretary, Douglas Pugh, said employment of Negroes among major orchestras here was nil.

On Broadway and in the radio and television networks, he said, only a relative handful of Negroes finds employment.

Tigers Lead UPI Grid Poll For Second Week In Row

LSU Wins 23 Out Of 35 1st Place Votes

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Louisiana State Tigers lost a little of their lustre by squeezing past Mississippi State, but they remained No. 1 Tuesday in the United Press International major college football ratings.

With only two weeks left to decide the mythical national champion, LSU was the first-place pick of 23 of the 35 coaches who rate the nation's teams for UPI. The Sugar Bowl bound Tigers, who wind up their season Saturday against Tulane, had a total of 309 points, down 15 from last week. However, they received three more first-place votes this week.

There was a general reshuffling of the top 10 with the Air Force Academy, Texas Christian and Ohio State moving in and Mississippi, Northwestern and Pittsburgh dropping out.

Army, a 26-0 winner over Villanova, moved up from third to second with three first - place votes and 263 points; Auburn also advanced a step from fourth to third with one first-place vote and 222 points, while Iowa, the Big Ten's Rose Bowl representative, dropped from second to sixth after suffering a 38-28 loss to Ohio State.

Oklahoma moved up from sixth to fourth (208 points) and Wisconsin held on to its fifth-place ranking (196 points). Right behind Iowa was still another Big Ten team — Purdue, which knocked Northwestern out of the top 10 by whipping the Wildcats, 23-6. Iowa has 178 points and three first-place votes, while Purdue was the top pick of one coach and had 173 points.

TCU, which can clinch a Cotton Bowl berth by beating Rice this Saturday, was eighth with 115 points; Ohio State was ninth with two first-place votes and 89 points, and the Air Force was 10th with 68 points. The other two first place votes went to Oklahoma and Wisconsin.

The second grouping was made up of Syracuse, Notre Dame, Northwestern, Mississippi, Southern California, Rice, Clemson, Mississippi State, Florida, California, Oklahoma State and Pittsburgh, with the last five being tied for 18th. No other teams received votes this week.

With the season rapidly drawing to a close, the battle for the top spot still could be very close. LSU, outplayed and outweighed by a massive Mississippi State line, rallied to gain a 7-6 victory last Saturday night after it appeared as if the Tigers would go down to their first defeat in nine games. But the narrow decision, over a team that has lost three in a row, hurt the Tigers.

A victory over Navy on Nov. 29 more than likely would enhance Army's chances, while Auburn, the runnerup to Ohio State last year, has an excellent chance since it meets a pair of "weak sisters" in Wake Forest and Alabama in its last two games.

Should any or all of the top three falter, then Oklahoma, which already has clinched an Orange Bowl berth, would have a strong case. The Sooners, whose only black spot in eight games was a 15-14 loss to Texas, wind up the campaign against Nebraska and Oklahoma State.

FAITH IN A FENCE — Football fans nonchalantly tilt their weight against leaning fence as they intently gaze across end zone at battle between Louisiana State University and Mississippi State University here last night. Rain softened field allowing fence to sag. But, it held as did unbeaten Louisiana squeaking by on a 7-6 victory. (AP Wirephoto).

OVER MILLER, DUKES

Boudreaux And Cook Take 2nd Round Wins In Fights

Clarence Cook and Al Boudreaux sent the fans home early, Cook decking Johnny Miler in 1:55 of the second and Boudreaux flooring Eddie Dukes three times in the second for a TKO, in a double main event boxing program at Kallio's Arena last night.

The imports, Miler fighting out of St. Paul, Minn., and Dukes out of Birmingham, made things interesting but only briefly. Miler, fighting his 14th pro bout, staggered Bastrop's Cook in the second before hitting the canvas and Dukes had the first round edge over Boudreaux.

Cook, 155½, looking a lot better than he did in his last Monroe fight against Jimmy Leach, was sharp in the first round, darting in quickly with lefts and defending well. Miler, 157, showed up well also, pushing the fight and landing a couple of good blows.

Miler landed a stiff right early in the second and buckling Cook's knees. The Bastrop stylist held on and the action picked up. Cook staggered Miler with a blistering left that started him down. Cook caught the Minnesotan with a pair of other hard ones and finished him off with a right. Miler didn't start to get up until after the count, completed at 1:55 of the second.

Boudreaux, and Dukes had a slow first round with a minimum of hard blows. Dukes got in the best while Boudreaux took it easy.

Dukes drove Boudreaux across the ring midway of the second and cornered him in a light exchange with little damage done. Dukes cornered the popular Westwego Frenchman again in the round but Boudreaux got the better of this exchange and sent him down for a nine-count.

Dukes regained his feet at nine and reeled back into the fray. Boudreaux downed him again but the Birmingham crawled to his feet before the count. Boudreaux then nailed him with several, a right being the clincher and Dukes was down for the third time as the bell sounded. Referee Loy Scarborough stopped it and Boudreaux was the winner under the three-knockdown rule. It was scored as a second round technical knockout.

Boudreaux weighed 142½ and Dukes 146.

Don Ware, 152, of West Monroe won an unanimous decision over Bastrop's Jimmy Simms, 151, in four rounds in the night's only prelim. LaDell Pate had been slated to meet Jerry Boudreaux, Al's brother, but Jerry failed to show.

A couple of Joe Knighten's amateur boys, Truitt Smith and James Dortch, completed the program with a 3-round exhibition.

LSU Reaches End Of Bumpy Road

By ED TUNSTALL

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Louisiana State, undefeated and untied and the nation's top team, reaches the end of a bumpy road against Tulane Saturday and the last shock may be the toughest to absorb.

Win, lose or draw in a bid for a tenth straight victory, LSU is a virtual cinch to be in the host's corner for the Sugar Bowl on New Year's Day for the fifth time. A triumph would cap LSU's first perfect season in 50 years and just about wrap up the national championship for the Bayou Bengals.

Professional oddsmakers have installed LSU as a two-touchdown favorite. Off the records, the task of trimming Tulane should be easy, but history shows the records go out the window when these ancient rivals meet. Saturday's game will be played before an expected crowd of 82,000, largest gathering ever to see a football game in the deep South.

Despite Tulane's lack-lustre record of only three victories in nine outings, the chances for an upset are not merely a sophomore's dream.

The LSU juggernaut, triggered by All-America halfback candidate Billy Cannon and with a celebrated third-string defensive unit dubbed the "Chinese Bandits," has rolled past most of its nine foes pretty convincingly. But oft-beaten Mississippi State scared the Tigers down to their cleats last Saturday before LSU pulled out a 7-6 decision.

Cannon ranks ninth among the nation's leading runners with 569 yards on 100 trips. Cannon is also a fine target for quarterback Warren Rabb's passing and shows a marked ability for kicking when the occasion demands, although punting chores normally fall to fullback Tommy Davis.

Petitbon ranked tenth among the nation's passers with 64 completions in 116 attempts for 706 yards. The big junior signal caller from New Orleans also tops the Southeastern Conference in total offense with 945 yards, good for the No. 13 spot nationally.

LSU's pass defense, while not noticeably porous, has surrendered 64 completions in 145 tosses for 713 yards. The Tigers have yet to face passer of Petitbon's caliber and the results Saturday may be startling.

On the other hand, Tulane's defense leaves much to be desired and the Green Wave must devise a way to stop Cannon and running mates Johnny Robinson and J. W. Brodnax.

64 Stars To Tee Off In Mexico Meet

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The glittering fairways and greens of deceptively beautiful Club de Golf Mexico were given a final trim today on the eve of the International Golf and Canada Cup matches.

A record field of 64 stars from 32 countries will tee off tomorrow in the first of four 18-hole daily rounds on the tough 216-yard par-72 course on the outskirts of the Mexican capital.

The two-man team with the lowest combined score will win the Canada Cup, individual low scorer wil win the International Championship.

"Anyone shooting 280 will win," predicted defending champion Torakichi "Pete" Nakamura of Japan waving a chopstick over a hot Japanese meal delivered to him and teammate Koichi Ono at the clubhouse.

"I think a 282 will be good enough," said young Gary Player of South Africa.

And the man expected to shoot that winning low score, despite his age, is Ben Hogan of the United States. Hogan and Sammy Snead, both 46 and the oldest in the tournament, are also favored to win the team trophy.

Experts rate the U.S. team No. 1 followed by Japan, South Africa, England, Ireland, Australia, Sweden, Wales and Argentina.

Hogan and Nakamura are betting favorites, but they could be upset by Player, Snead, Wales' Dai Rees or Dave Thomas, Peter Allis Jr. of England or Flory Van Donck of Belgium.

Hogan and Snead are matched against Argentina's strong Fidel De Luca and Leopoldo Ruiz in the opening contests. They will be the last to tee off, at 1 p.m. EST.

Sonny Liston Kayoes Cab In 8th Round

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Sonny Liston, ninth-ranked heavyweight contender from Philadelphia, scored an eight round technical knockout over surprisingly stubborn Ernie Cab of Brooklyn Tuesday night before 1,813 fans at Miami Beach Auditorium.

Firing his best shots at Cab early in the scheduled 10-round fight, with no apparent success, Liston resorted to a cutting left jab to register his eighth straight victory and sixth KO this year.

Liston cut Cab's left eye and the bridge of his nose in the second round and kept battering away at the bloody target until the boxing commission doctor, Alexander Robbins, ordered a halt at the end of the seventh round.

Liston weighed 211 and Cab 211¼.

In the semiinal, Andy Arel of Massena, N.Y., scored a unanimous 10-round decision over Manny Castro of Miami Beach.

CROSS-COUNTRY EVENT

Indian Runners To Host Cowboys

Coach Lew Hartzog's Northeast State College Cross-Country team will host the powerful McNeese State Cowboys, the only team to defeat them this season, in a 2-mile cross-country race today beginning at 3 p.m. at Brown Stadium.

The Indians seeking their eighth victory in a row will be paced by Buddy Eiland, Farmerville freshman, who will be out to make it eight undefeated starts and better his great 9:33.8 clocking. Northeast has a 7-1 record for the season.

Hartzog's harriers suffered their only loss at the hands of McNeese in the first meet of the season, despite the fact that Indian runners Jack Williams of Tallulah and Eiland finished one and two in the meet.

The Northeast runners include Eiland, Williams, Buddy McCullen of Simsboro, Bill Frye and Bob Jaenicke, both of Golden, Col., will be hard-pressed to continue their string of victories.

The Cowboys boast three fine runners in Jack Frater, who holds the existing Gulf States Conference record for the 2-mile run with a time of 9:51.1, Len Chisholm, who holds the GSC record in the mile run, and Clayton Fontenot, who holds the record in the half-mile run. In addition, they are supported by veteran Stan Krowski, freshmen Dave Liste and Phil Peters of Indiana.

The 440-yard relay team composed of Dave Liste and Phil Peters of Indiana.

The 440-yard relay team composed of Dave Styron, Jerry Ivy, Don Reynolds and Don Styron, holders of the GSC record, will run an exhibition before the 2-mile run.

Northeast will compete in three more meets before they close out one of the most successful seasons in the history of the school.

Saturday, the Indians will face Louisiana Tech and Memphis State University at Brown Stadium in a meet beginning at 4 p.m.

On Thanksgiving Day, November 27, the Indian runners will join runners from throughout the South for the "Turkey Day" meet at New Orleans.

The season windup will be a GSC meet December 5 at Louisiana 'Tech in Ruston.

Redskin Boss Asks Halt In Draft Deals

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Preston Marshall, head of the Washington Redskins, Tuesday called on pro football club owners to stop trading away their early rounds in the annual player draft.

Marshall said he would ask the National Football League to prohibit any team from dealing off or releasing its first and second round choices until the players selected have been signed and participated in at least three games.

NFL clubs, the Redskins included, have obtained players from each other in exchange for future draft choices.

Marshall said this defeats the purpose of the draft, which was designed to prevent a few teams from growing stronger at the expense of others. Clubs that finish a season low in the NFL standings gets first crack at available college stars.

"The teams that need those choices the worst are the ones who are trading," Marshall said. "This allows other teams to corral too many draft choices."

Sox Disclose Attempt To Radio Hurlers

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox tried to wire their pitchers for sound last season but the experiment failed, it was disclosed Tuesday.

"Wires led from the mound to the third base dugout," said Eddie Short, director of press and promotion for the club. "Manager Al Lopez could speak directly through a microphone to the pitcher, who had a tiny transistor sewed into the crown of his cap. A pair of miniature receivers with flexible tubing led to the base of his cap, just above each ear."

The system worked in batting practices and other pre-game workouts, but after trying it in three or four games, crowd noises drowned it out.

It was all an attempt to prevent sign stealing, Short said.

"The experiment was abandoned in late June after a pitcher underwent a heavy enemy barrage," Short added. "The bombardment couldn't be charged to 'operation remote control,' but more to 'operation no control'."

Hank Greenburg Sells Stock In Cleveland Club

CLEVELAND (AP) — The majority stockholders of the Cleveland Indians Tuesday bought the stock of former General Manager Hank Greenberg and brothers Charles and Andrew Baxter.

Purchase price was not disclosed.

The three, who had asked for the meeting of the board of directors after expressing dissatisfaction with the way the club is being run, held 34 per cent of the club's 6,000 shares of stock.

Webb Meets Giardello In Fight Tonight

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports riter

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Middleweight contender Joey Giardello aims to enlist public support tonight in his campaign to win a shot at the title.

"If I put up a good fight, maybe the people will help me," says Joey who goes against Spider Webb at the Cow Palace in a 10-rounder being televised nationally over ABC 10 p.m. EST.

The 28-year-old Giardello is ranked No. 3 contender in the 160-pound division by both Ring Magazine and the National Boxing Assn. From Rosedale, N. Y., the ex-Philadelphian has been in the rankings seven years.

Webb, 26-year-old former Olympic boxer from Chicago, holds the No. 4 spot in the NBA ratings and No. 5 in the Ring Magazine's.

Both are good boxers with a punch. Webb showed his here last January when he knocked out tough Rory Calhoun in the fourth round after being down twice himself.

Webb has fought 33 times with 29 victories and has stopped 15. Giardello has 77 victories, 14 losses 5 draws and 1 no-decision match.

Both fighters possess knockout punches but since both are good boxers, the fight was a good bet to go the limit. Should both finish the 10 rounds, the decision would be on the ballot of the referee and two judges under the 10-point must system. The winner of each round collects 10 points and the loser 9 or fewer.

SLC halfback C. J. Alexander was picked as Back of the Week. He scored the SLC touchdown and was the leading ground gainer of the game with 49 yards in 13 attempts.

Coach Solves Loss Problem By Winning

By KYLE THOMPSON
United Press International

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — Here's a problem for armchair football coaches:

You are nearing the end of your first season as head coach at a certain school, your team has just lost two games by the depressing scores of 21-8 and 33-0, and even the dumbest freshman on the campus knows that your squad is a 19 - point underdog when it meets the team that is leading the league.

Question: How do you make your players forget those two shellackings and get set up for an upset?

Coach Jim Myers of Texas A&M solved that riddle with spectacular success Saturday when his five-times-beaten Aggies rose up to riddle Rice, 28 - 21, and knock the Owls out of first place in the Southwest Conference and possibly out of a bowl berth. That's why today he's being honored by United Press International as football's "Coach of the Week."

"The boys really felt bad about those two losses to Arkansas and SMU," explained Myers. "We had so many injured I couldn't take a chance on anyone else getting hurt, so we just had light workouts during the week. But I could tell it was a different team than it had been before this season—the boys were very spirited and worked up and ready for the game."

On the day of the game, Myers kept the squad in the dressing room until 10 minutes before the kickoff while their pent-up spirits neared the explosion point. Then he sent them roaring out to the field, ready to roll.

St. Matthew's travels to Weston Thursday night for two games, a "B" boys game and a varsity boys clash.

INJURY RIDDLED

Auburn Produces Hero Each Game

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) —Auburn, plagued with injuries, is producing a new football hero almost every game.

One by one, Coach Ralph "Shug" Jordan has watched six substitute backs skyrocket from obscurity to gridiron acclaim when they might otherwise have spent much of the season on the bench.

Every player except one in the first and second-string backfields has missed all or part of a game because of injuries. So Jordan has had to rely on untested talent throughout the season.

It has paid off. Auburn, undefeated in 22 games, is rated No. 2 in the nation and has the best defensive record in major college football. On offense, the Tigers lead the Southeastern Conference with an average of 314.1 yards a game.

Sophomore Ed Dyas of Mobile, the only back who has managed to stay off the sick list, was the first unsung player to achieve glory. Jordan put him in at fullback when Ronnie Robbs suffered a crippling knee injury in the opener against Tennessee. Robbs is still out.

Dyas made his debut with a 6.2-yard average against the Vols, then raised to 10.3 the following week against Chattanooga.

Jimmy Laster of Covington, Ga., a senior halfback who had seen little action, made a name for himself in the Kentucky game. He caught a pass for Auburn's only touchdown and gained 58 yards on the ground.

A third - string halfback from Rossville, Ga., Jimmy Reynolds, crowded his teammates out of the spotlight against Georgia Tech. He picked up 55 yards rushing, only three yards shy of the total ground distance posted by the entire Tech backfield.

Richard Wood, a gangling 6-5 passing specialist, got his chance against Maryland because the No. 1 quarterback, Lloyd Nix, was still sidelined with injuries suffered in the Tech game. Wood, a junior from Lanett, Ala., completed three passes out of three in his first college appearance.

Wood also proved himself against Florida. Trailing 33-0, Jordan sent the lanky quarterback in with the ball on Florida's 44. Wood covered the distance with two consecutive passes and the Tigers went out in front.

An Auburn homecoming crowd saw another unrated player turn in a spectacular performance against Mississippi State. Halfback Jimmy Pettus of Oxford, Ala., another sophomore, had never caught a pass in a college game, but he grabbed five for 108 yards and three touchdowns against the Maroons. Pettus was subbing for the injured veteran Tommy Lorino.

Bobby Lauder was the hero in the Georgia game last week, making up for the time he was benched because of a pre-season injury. Lauder, a junior from Foley, Ala., outran the Bulldog defense and grabbed a 44-yard scoring pass from Wood. On another play, Lauder ran 20 yards for a touchdown.

4 Wards Offer Doe Hunting

NEWELLTON La. (Special) — Four wards in Tensas parish will be open for the proposed antlerless deer season, according to E. R. McDonald Sr., Police Jury president.

McDonald, who is also chairman of the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission, said the antlerless season would be open in wards 2, 4, 6 and 7 of Tensas parish.

He made the statement late yesterday following a Police Jury meeting at which petitions were presented opposing the antlerless season in wards 1 and 5 of Tensas.

McDonald said he couldn't make a definite committment on whether the season would be postponed in wards 1 and 5.

"The petitions will have to be brought before the commission for a decision," McDonald said. "I can't say, at this time, whether the season in wards 1 and 5 will be postponed."

But he said, "I can definitely say that the season will go on in wards 2, 4, 6 and 7."

McDonald pointed out that the petitions from wards 1 and 5 represented all hunting areas in the two wards with the exception of the Winter Quarters Plantation and the Evergreen Plantation.

Winter Quarters, according to McDonald, is owned by a group of planters. McDonald rents the Evergreen Plantation. Both are located in Ward 1.

The antlerless season, which was proposed last year but cancelled, is scheduled for the last 10 days in the regular deer season. Each hunter will be entitled to one antlerless deer for the 10-day season.

In effect, hunters in the wards opened for the antlerless season will be able to shoot two bucks and an antlerless deer over the entire season.

MCGRAW OF WINNSBORO

Indian's Center Goes To Surgery

Northeast will face Tech Saturday night in Brown Stadium without regular center Bill McGraw, scheduled to undergo surgery this morning for torn knee ligaments.

McGraw, 21-year-old Winnsboro junior, was injured in the Northwestern game and missed last Saturday's contest with Louisiana College.

"I think McGraw has done a wonderful job this season," Head Coach Jack C. Rowan said, "Billy is one of the top centers in the Gulf States Conference. He played consistent ball all year; his linebacking will be greatly missed."

McGraw, a regular at the pivot post on the Gold Team, stands 6' and weighs 205.

Speaking of the coming final tilt with Tech Saturday, Rowan said, "Louisiana Tech has a sound, well-coached ball club with good depth. They run the winged T offense and have a second team as good as the first. They have much more depth than we have and two good quarterbacks in McCabe and Orton."

The Bulldogs have 23 lettermen from last year and have predominantly a sophomore ball club. Tech, along with Northwestern, were pre-season picks as the teams likely to win the GSC title this year. The Techmen, with the exception of three boys, are almost the same team that were the co-champs of the GSC in 1957.

"We will rely on our boys to stay in longer against their depth," said Rowan, adding, "We may run some boys 60 minutes."

Oil Worker Sought For Alleged Rape

When last seen he was driving a 1956 white Ford with 1958 Louisiana license 472-398.

Tile Gives Continuity Look To Rooms

Some homemakers are learning that many rooms can mean not enough room.

For the young married couple, a number of small rooms may be just the thing. When the family grows, however, elbow room can get to be something of a luxury. Unless you're prepared to look for a larger place, the answer is to combine two of your present rooms into one. One of your big problems will be to attain an effect of continuity — to avoid an obvious patched-up, built-over look.

One of the best ways of overcoming this problem is by surfacing the floor with ceramic tile. In the long run, it can be cheaper than attempting to match up your existing floors. It is always in style, easy to keep clean and will eliminate the considerable—and recurring — expense of wall-to-wall carpeting.

Ceramic tile can also be used on the walls, or the lower part of them, to create the effect of "flow." Colors and designs to match or harmonize with any floor pattern can be obtained through your tile contractor.

Eros High Hosts Jackson Parish FHA

The fourteenth annual parish meeting of the Jackson Parish Future Homemakers of America was held in the high school auditorium in Eros.

"Around the World with FHA" was the theme for the program. President, Artie Lee Stuckey presided. The Quitman FHA had charge of the devotion, which featured two girls singing "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands," and one girl who gave a reading entitled, "Creation."

The greeting was given by the principal of Eros, R. E. Crowe. Elizabeth Price of Eros gave the welcome. Then the Chatham FHA gave the response. The roll was called by the Jonesboro - Hodge FHA. The parish secretary called the names of the schools and a girl from each school, wearing a white dress came to the stage.

The District Supervisor of Homemaking, Miss Lillian Talbot, gave an interesting talk about her trip "Around the World With FHA." Some of the places of her tour were Hong Kong, Istanbul, India, and Formosa. She began her trip in Shreveport and returned there, making a trip around the world. She told of the way people in foreign lands live. Many of the people are dying of starvation. In India 9 out of 14 babies die before the age of 2. The hotels were nice. Miss Talbot told of visiting various places of worship. There were the Temples, Shrines and idols of various shapes and sizes. Among them were idols of Buddha

After the talk a style show was given with Miss Lynette Hood as narrator, who is the Northern District Secretary from Chatham.

During the business meeting the secretary, Sherry Watkins from Jonesboro read the minutes and Mary Anne Shows, treasurer, gave her report.

Katherine Pylant, secretary of the Eros FHA gave the report of the registration committee. There were five schools present. About 150 people attended. Among the guests present were Miss Talbot, Miss Thomlinson, Mr. Crowe, Nelda Lewis, and Juanita Sanders. The Weston FHA gave the officers report and Quitman gave the club accomplishments.

The following officers were installed for the year. President, Sandra Ann Roberts, Chatham; vice - president, Ann Brinson, Jonesboro - Hodge High School; secretary, Delinda Norrid, Weston; treasurer, Barbara Stewart, Quitman; historian reporter, Nell Daigle, Eros; song leader, Barbara Walker, Weston. Sonda Ann Roberts led the closing ritual and the meeting adjourned.

There are 171 versions of the U. S. National Anthem, "The Star Spangled Banner," on file in the Library of Congress.

League Of Women Voters Holds Meeting

A dinner meeting of the League of Women Voters of Monroe was held recently with Dr. George T. Walker, president of Northeast Louisiana State College as the guest speaker.

"An Improved Public School System Based on a Sound Financial Structure," was the topic of Dr. Walker's talk. In his discussion he brought out the fact that Louisiana teachers' salaries ranked among the highest in the nation but the average teacher is not being paid comparable to personnel in other vocations with like education and training. He also stated that Louisiana has chosen an expensive way to educate its children because of equal opportunities for all — which is laudable but expensive.

Dr. Walker said ways must be found to continue the financing of the many highly specialized programs, such as special classes for the gifted, the retarded and the crippled children. He commended league members on their interest in education. He expressed the desire that voters, educators and citizens of Louisiana have the patience, courage and wisdom to develop an even better public school system for future generations.

Mrs. J. Howard Carroll, president of the league, announced that two unit group meetings would be held Thursday November 20, at 9:30 in the morning in the home of Miss Myrtle Rodgers, 1317 Spencer Street, and one at 7:00 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Ethel Cooper, 1404 Cypress Street, West Monroe. The topic to be studied at these meetings will be "New Perspectives in our Foreign Policy."

TEEN-AGE MAIL

Suffers Spankings—Should Act Her Age

By DOROTHY RICKER

Dear Mrs. Ricker:

I am 13. Quite often I do not do as I'm told and become stubborn and saucy. When this happens my father takes me to my room, turns me over his knee, gives me a good spanking with his hand until I can't keep from crying. The other day I was told to wipe the dishes but I didn't feel like doing them so I refused.

My parents told me to start doing them so I went over to the sink, picked up a dish and smashed it on the floor. In a moment I was across my father's knees and he was spanking me. I had to apologize and promise never to do that again. My parents say that as long as I act like a little girl I'll be punished this way.

I guess it does make me act better until something else comes up but I'm beginning to become very humiliated by this sort of discipline and of course, the spankings are not fun. Isn't there any other way to punish a teen-age girl?

Nancy

Dear Nancy:

There are several ways to punish teen-age youngsters—parents can cut down (or stop) their allowance, take away privileges, add chores and restrictions. These things would mean little or nothing to smaller children so punishment should be meted out according to age and behavior. Generally speaking, I do not believe in corporal punishment but if parents cannot reason with a youngster and he (or she) persists in doing things which are forbidden and refuses to cooperate, it seems that a spanking is about all that is left to do.

In your case you know better than to break dishes so I think your parents are right—as long as you continue to behave like a small child you should be treated as one. No one expects a youngster to be perfect but you have been behaving like a real brat. My advice is to start acting your age!

Daughter Worries

Because Parents Worry

Dear Mrs. Ricker:

I am 16 and my parents are wonderful to me. I am popular and have a lot of dates. My problem is that when I go out my parents worry a lot; sometimes Mother cannot sleep until I get home. She has even gotten sick from worrying so I really feel this is a serious problem.

They trust me, they meet all my friends and approve of them. Mrs. Ricker, what can I do to stop them from worrying about me so much? I am sure I am not the only girl with this problem so please publish this letter soon.

Laurie

Dear Laurie:

All parents who love their younsters worry about them at times, especially when they are old enough to first start dating. But, I think your parents are making a mistake to worry so much as long as they trust you and your companions.

If youngsters are old enough to date and have proven they are trustworthy, there comes a time when parents must have faith that all will be well. Even though Mom and Dad may still worry, speaking as a mother, I think it is unfair to spoil a teen-age's fun by leaving him, or her, with a mental picture of the folks wringing their hands, walking the floor and worrying themselves sick every time the youngster has a date. However it MUST be understood that this applies only when age, behavior and choice of friends are NOT a cause for parental worry.

Meetings Held In Tallulah During Week

Hosting a luncheon at the Tallulah Country Club on Ladies Day were Mrs. Andrew Yerger and Mrs. Hugh Montgomery.

The club was beautiful in its gorgeous display of red and gold autumn leaves and dry arrangements.

Autumn flowers and a Thanksgiving motif were also used on the tables. Further carrying out the fall theme was the turkey dinner which was served. Mrs. Roy Counts presided over the brief business session. The new member, Mrs. Jesse Anderson was welcomed into the group and was the recipient of the door prize.

Out of town guests in attendance were Mrs. King Trieschmann of Lake Providence, Mrs. Eva McLean, Mrs. Elmer Dalfiume, Mrs. Marion Helgason and Mrs. William Bates.

PTA MEETS

The Tallulah Elementary School auditorium was the setting for the Tallulah Parent Teachers Association meeting last Wednesday. Mrs. D. D. Wood presided and Mrs. Maurice Ursery served as secretary. The Reverend William S. Spilman gave the invocation.

A musical program was rendered by Miss Betty Wells, voice teacher at All Saints College, and Mrs. Boyar, piano teacher at the college. Superintendent M. A. Phillips spoke on the school financial problems in Madison Parish. The by-laws were changed stating the meeting day would be on the second Wednesday in the month.

Mrs. Billie Adams' first grade room received the award for the highest percentage of parents present.

AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK OBSERVED

Last Thursday evening the American Education Week was observed with a program centered around the work of Tallulah schools. The program was given in Tallulah Elementary School auditorium.

The purposes of the observance and the records of last year's graduates were outlined by Superintendent M. A. Phillips. A skit entitled, "What School Is," written by Irene Caldwell, was given by the elementary grades section. Susan Lightfoot was the announcer. The Elementary Band, under the direction of Robert Gaughdril played three numbers after the skit. Nancy Goza, Janet Sevier and Janet Ursery gave a reading on "What I've Learned" while a group of first graders in the rhythm band played for background effects. Readings on the library theme were given by Steve Hart, Toddy Guinn, Derris Ray, Flora Yerger and Susze Wood. A folk dance, Jump Jim Crow, was given by a group of children in the first grade. David McDonald and Elizabeth Folk of the second grade gave "Checking for School." Hut Howell and Margaret A. Simpson, gave a reading entitled, "Reading Books" for the third grade. A playlet, "Please Don't Hurt Us" emphasized the care of books, was given by representatives of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

In the high school department a play, "Education for Citizenship" was presented by the English and Speech Departments. The Physical Education Department gave a demonstration of "Education for Health." The Science and Mathematics Departments gave a demonstration entitled, "Education for Specialized Fields." As a concluding number "Education for Culture" with several numbers by the high school chorus under the direction of Miss Head.

The home of Mrs. E. E. Warrick was the meeting place for the Tallulah Chapter of the Daughters of American Revolution recently. Mrs. H. P. Warden, regent, presided.

Following the ritual and prayer led by Mrs. Stanton Bettis, it was decided to bring Christmas gifts for the DAR sponsored Tamassee home at the December meeting.

Mrs. Warden presented the National Defense news and read the President General's message. Colored slides of the Tamassee home were shown by Mrs. R. L. Bailey with Mrs. Warrick giving the narrative. Mrs. Bailey also gave an interesting talk on the 67th Continental Congress which met in Washington in April.

Refreshments of Lemon cake and coffee were served to Mrs. Stanton Bettis, Mrs. Myles Hopkins, Mrs. W. W. Ziegler, Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. Alberta Ammons, Mrs. Mason Spencer and Mrs. Warrick.

THE LITTLE THEATER

You know, we've decided that Monroe really is a theatre-conscious community. When we speak of Monroe, of course, we mean also West Monroe and all the surrounding area. As a case in point one might consider the Little Theatre — every year it boasts a solid season of five good plays—all Broadway hits, capably directed and acted. This alone is something really to boast about. But consider, too, the number of other good productions seen here throughout each year. For example, the excellent professional productions planned by the Cerebral Palsy Association for the next few months are something to anticipate. "Auntie Mame", the first of this series, has already received critical acclaim.

The Louisiana Tech Series has proved successful, too, over the past few years. They started their program this year with The Little Singers of Paris. And, of course, speaking of Tech, we can't leave out the productions done by the college drama department each year. We understand that "Carousel" is on the agenda there this month.

And certainly we're terribly proud of our own college — NLSC. When it comes to good drama., George Brian and James Parkerson are doing wonders with the speech and drama department at the college. George is currently in rehearsal for "The Silver Cord." We understand that the talented Kenny sisters — Gerry and Tavie — are both in this one. You saw Tavie's fresh, delightful performance in "Visit" at the Playhouse last month. And who can forget Gerry's charmingly flirtatious Madame Dubonnet in last season's "The Boyfriend"?

And other than the above mentioned theatre activities, every now and then some group we don't ordinarily connect with the drama comes up with something startlingly new and exciting in the field. As a prime example of this we might consider The Neville Key Club. For this group of boys — completely inexperienced in theatre — gave the Twin Cities one of the best, one of the most professional works last year that we have ever been privileged to see. And they're planning a repeat performance this year — or should we say "performances", for they're taking it on tour.

In case you missed The Key Club's Christmas production last year, be sure you catch one of the several performances in and around town this season. We'll give you time and places later and in more detail. But, truly, you owe it to yourself to see the show. It's all about Christmas, and like Christmas, it's filled with music, fellowship, childhood memories, surprises and good cheer.

It's a wonderful and inspiring experience in good theatre. Clyde Culpepper and Herbert Gathright deserve plaudits for the manner in which they have, with inspired direction, welded this group of amateurs into a close - knit, smoothly functioning troupe of actors who present an exciting evening of "experimental theatre" — without props, without scenery, without costumes — but with magnificent choral music, unbelievably good lighting effects, interpretative reading that you'll find hard to believe from high school boys, ensemble playing that many professionals would do well to strive for, and the wonderfully warm and uplifting group spirit that adolescents so often surprise us with.

Don't miss this beautiful show. It will start your Christmas season off right.

'DEAR ABBY'

Think Before Marrying Him The Third Time

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I have rocks in my head but I married the same man twice and we were divorced twice because we fought all the time. Everybody in my family (and his) got their mouths into it and talked us into going back together because of our kids. The same thing is happening again. Our divorce became final in October and now he wants me to remarry him again in time for Christmas. He is a heavy drinker and is always mixed up with two or three women. My children would have a nicer Christmas if I tried again. Should I marry him a third time or leave well enough alone?

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: Don't let the Christmas spirit fog up your thinking. You have to live with him 365 days of the year. Take your time and think it over and over and over.

DEAR ABBY: I am madly in love with a certain boy. I am in the 9th grade and he's in the 10th. The trouble is this. We don't know each other. He is quite bashful and I'd be too embarrassed to ask anyone to introduce us and we don't live close enough to meet by accident. Don't use my name, but sign me "Dying to meet him" and I don't mind if you put this in the paper because lots of other girls have the same problem and your answer might help them.

DYING TO MEET HIM

DEAR "DYING": The best approach is the DIRECT approach. When you see him, maneuver yourself within "Hi" distance and simply smile and say "Hi!" Once the girl breaks the ice, it's easy for a bashful boy to thaw out.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I had quite an experience with Sunday pests. Pretty soon we did not dare to make any plans of our own because we knew these pests would drop in on us. They stayed so late they kept us from going to bed at our usual bedtime. Finally I could take no more without losing my dignity so I sat down and wrote to them. That ended it. They haven't spoken to us since — and they haven't spoiled any more Sundays either. The pen can be mightier than the sword, Abby.

Yours truly,

LIVE AND LEARN

DEAR "LIVE": I'm sure they got the "point."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "STEAMFITTER": Anyone who waits ten years to get the last laugh is lucky if he remembers what the joke was. Forget it!

Ceramic Tile Is Simple To Install, Clean

Ceramic tile is relatively simple to install, but there are certain technical procedures that must be followed to get a satisfactory job. The method of installation depends upon the type of surface, the purpose to which the tile is to be put, exposure to the elements, and other factors. TELEVISION NOTES

No Acting Skill, This Character

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI)—I mustered up enough stupefaction Tuesday night to watch ABC-TV's "Cheyenne" all the way through and I must say that its hero, Ty Hardin, possesses an almost spectacular lack of acting skills.

I would place Hardin one level below Dale Robertson of NBC-TV's "Wells Fargo" and Rory Calhoun of CBS-TV's "The Texan."

I'm afraid I didn't understand the camera work on one portion of CBS-TV's "To Tell The Truth Tuesday night — while Polly Bergen was spinning a hula hoop, the lensman was zeroing in on her face.. .Henry Morgan visited CBS-TV's "Arthur Godfrey Show" Tuesday night and the following exchange took place:

Godfrey: "I have no talent. I play the ukelele — badly. That's all."

Morgan: "That's true."

Carl Reiner, a brilliant second banana, really sparked the portions of the NBC-TV "George Gobel Show" that I caught Tuesday night. One skit set in a supermarket packed some wonderfully funny bits.

Steve Allen, interviewed Tuesday night on "The Ben Hecht Show" — which is seen only in the New York area — had this to say: "I could put on a much better show than I put on now on Sundays if I were working for, say, the BBC." Allen was referring to the need to cater to mass tastes because of the pressures of ratings and sponsors' needs.

I believe my favorite line of the TV week occurred Tuesday night on the NBC-TV "Jack Paar Show" when Tallulah Bankhead casually remarked: "I smoked hashish once and got sick as a dog."

The Channel Swim: NBC-TV has an option on "Showboat" and wants Polly Bergen to star in it. Bill Leyden will pinch hit for Jack Paar on the latter's NBC-TV show this Friday — Paar is going to Washington to accept an award.

CBS Radio will revamp its entire schedule on Jan. 5—network time will be cut from the present 55 or 60 hours a week to about 30 hours per week. Bishop Fulton J. Sheen will be featured in a special half-hour ABC-TV Christmas Day show.

ABC-TV is looking for a new time slot for "Man With A Camera" — its Friday night ratings are a little soggy. Tammy Grimes, who is Christopher Plummer's wife, and Sally Gracie, who is Rod Steiger's wife, will play a couple of floozies in the CBS-TV special "Gift of the Magi," Dec. 9.

An NBC-TV Dec. 14 special, "The Hallmark Christmas Tree," will offer Ralph Bellamy, Carol Channing, Maurice Evans, Tom Poston, Cyril Ritchard, William Shatner and Jessica Tandy. Cliff Arquette will be featured once a month as "Charlie Weaver" on the NBC-TV "Tennessee Ernie Ford Show."

ABC-TV will launch a series of "Meet McGraw" repeats in a nighttime spot this Sunday. CBS-TV may shift the morning Arthur Godfrey show to an earlier time spot. Ratings are the reason—the latest Nielsen gives the competing NBC-TV "The Price Is Right" 8.5 to Godfrey's 3.6.

AF Missile Blows Apart After Shot

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A silver-colored Air Force Navajo missile exploded in the sky over the Atlantic Ocean Tuesday 60 seconds after it left its launching pad.

The 70-foot long missile blasted off at 4:03 p. m. with a tremendous roar. For the first minute of its rapid climb into a blue sky, it appeared to be following a normal course.

Then, seconds after it blew apart with a tremendous burst of fire and smoke.

Remnants of the missile flew on for a few seconds, then began a long arc-like plunge toward the Atlantic, leaving a thin trail of smoke across the sky.

The Air Force said the launching was normal but that the missile began to wobble and destroyed itself.

The Navajo was beamed toward the outer edge of the earth's atmosphere on another high altitude research mission. Its job was to gather performance data for long range supersonic aircraft of the future.

If the Navajo had performed normally, a huge booster rocket, which gave its first big push away from the launching pad, would have dropped away and twin ram jet engines would have roared into action and carried it the rest of the way.

RANGOON, Burma (UPI)—Burmese President Win Maung decorated American jazz trombonist Jack Teagarden and his sextette today for playing at a Boy Scout benefit. The decoration: Boy Scout tenderfoot badges.

SPEC SO — Roy Albert Blivens, 7½ months old, learned to creep quickly after he was fitted with glasses. Eye tests were made after his foster mother, Sue Smith, noticed his grasp for toys missed the mark. The child is believed to be one of the youngest ever fitted with glasses. The five older children of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Blivens, Bloomington Ind., also wear glasses. (AP Wirephoto).

BOOST FARM INCOME

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department said today the sharp increase in net farm income this year probably would boost the per capita income of farm people to more than $1,000, the highest in history. In 1957, the per capita income of farmers was $967.

Worries About Moon Rockets

GUNTOWN, Miss. (AP)—Every time they launch a missile into space, pretty Charlene Majers worries about her property.

She owns the moon. Yes, sir.

At least, the U.S. Reclamation Bureau recognizes her legal claim.

On Oct. 14, 1950 Mrs. Katie Hopkins Majers filed her daughter's notice at Tupelo, Miss., after the proper legal investigation.

It states Miss Majers' position with admirable clarity:

"I, Charlene Majers, am hereby placing claim on planet moon and shall defend said title against any persons or nations that might attack."

The acquisition fulfiled Charlene's childhood ambition.

She isn't the only planet owner in the family. Her cousin, Mitchell Herring, now serving in the Marine Corps, owns the planet Mars. Whether the corps is cognizant of this is not known.

Charlene is a geology major at Mississippi State University at Starkville and looks forward to the day she may visit her heavenly domain.

However, she has not yet figured exactly how she would defend the moon against attackers or poachers.

No matter. For the legal time being, her claim stands staunch. A fellow in Knoxville, Tenn., who tried to add the moon to his possessions a couple years ago found that Charlene had got there before him.

The Reclamation Bureau turned his application back.

Judge Takes Milk Case Under Study

BATON ROUGE (AP)—District Judge Jess Johnson has under advisement a case which, when it is finally determined, will have far-reaching effects on milk merchandising in Louisiana.

Before the court, after a two-day hearing, is an application for a restraining order to keep Agriculture Commissioner S. J. McCrory from enforcing the 1958 state milk marketing law. Petitioners for an injunction—Schwegmann Bros. Giant Supermarkets of New Orleans and Food Town, Inc., of Baton Rouge—contend the legislation is unconstitutional. The plaintiffs claim the act has forced higher milk prices.

Sponsors of the legislation contended it was needed to prevent unfair price cutting by large distributors.

At the same time the issue is in the state courts, other suits attacking the milk statute have been filed in federal district court.

George Ponder, assistant attorney general, holds that Louisiana has authority for reasonable regulation of milk sales within the state.

Dr. William H. Alexander, associate professor of agricultural economics at Louisiana State University, told the court yesterday that milk prices were set under a formula and that they varied according to the costs of the individual producer and handler. He said no operator could sell under his costs. Price cutting, he said, would result in an investigation by the agriculture commissioner.

Under cross-examination, Alexander said any order reducing the price would be voted on by the producers, but if they rejected the order, controls would be ended, forcing new hearings and a new price formula.

NIX BIG BEN LIFT

LONDON (UPI)—The government has turned down a proposal to install a pay-as-you-go elevator that would take visitors to the top of Big Ben. The Works Ministry told Commons Tuesday that the elevator to the clock dominating the houses of Parliament would cost $56,000 and that it would take too long to pay off the investment.

Electronic Device For Research On Brain In Works

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Electronic computers may soon be turned loose on the human brain to give man his most accurate picture of what makes the mind work.

While the complicated workings of a computer are delving into human problems, the even more complex functions of men and animals may give engineers some answers to their puzzles.

Such new horizons were being explored today as experts from throughout the nation gathered for the annual Conference of Electrical Techniques in Medicine and Surgery.

Prof. Otto Schmitt, a University of Minnesota biochemist who is chairman of the conference, said electronic brains could serve as a doctor's assistant and help in diagnosing heart and brain ailments and perhaps suggest remedial steps.

He said a computer may be able to spell out the sequence by which the brain gathers its information, giving some insight into the way the brain works in the learning process.

He said engineers might want to explore what biological process permits birds to navigate unerringly during migration. Or they might want to know by what process bats are able to guide themselves on their own sonar signals.

Schmidt said if biological phenomena can be understood and explained, "then we have a big start in the direction of applying what we call biological coding to machines."

Wisecrack Gets Actress Freed From Sentence

LONDON (UPI) — The law gave another chance Tuesday to Joan Collier, a once-popular singer, because of a judge's wisecrack.

Miss Collier, 49, had been a star performer until deafness and partial blindness reduced her to singing at workmen's clubs.

Five weeks ago, Old Bailey Court sentenced her to nine months imprisonment for cashing a $210 check delivered to her by mistake.

"Certainly, for the time being she has sung her last ditty," said the recorder of London, Sir Gerald Dodson."

The Court of Criminal Appeals ruled Monday that his remark was "most unfortunate." It ordered her freed from prison Tuesday.

Becomes Ill At Scientific Task

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Photographing a star galaxy during a snowstorm turned out badly for Swiss-born scientist Fritz Zwicky, 59.

Dr. Zwicky, professor of astrophysics at the California Institute of Technology, became ill as a result of overexposure to the cold.

He spent 4½ hours in a small cage atop mile-high Mt. Palomar taking spectrograph pictures of the galaxy with the aid of the 200-inch telescope. When he finished at 3 a.m. Monday, he was half number. To make matters worse, his pictures were blurred and of no use.

Editor Honored For Service

CARTHAGE, Mo. (AP)—E. L. Dale, editor and publisher of the Carthage Evening Press, was honored for his 50 years as a community leader.

Many of the 175 gathered at a luncheon for him Tuesday paid tribute with speeches. Congratulatory telegrams were read. And he received a plaque from the Carthage Chamber of Commerce.

Dale looked at the plaque, then rose to speak.

"I am a proof reader and this reads Nov. 8th. You've left out the one." That was all he said.

BLAMES GAS

SALISBURY, England (UPI)—The Rev. John Wansey paid an $8.40 fine for speeding Tuesday with an explanation that it was all the fault of high-test gasoline.

"A premium motor fuel had been put into the tank, not by me, and I was unaccustomed to its unique power," the minister said in a letter to the court.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Jottings in Pencil

Ava Gardner's newest flicker, "The Naked Maja" — a headache from the start — has technical problems as well as the much-publicized temperamental ones. Lots of the Tony Franciosa dialogue recorded in Europe has to be redubbed in New York — no fault of Tony's, the experts in Spain goofed, and of course it will raise the budget on the already very expensive movie . . . Meyer Lansky is ailing in Cuba. Heart trouble. Chums say he'd like to find a buyer for his piece of the Havana - Riviera but there are formidable obstacles.

Ingrid Bergman plans to be on this side of the Atlantic for the December opening of "Inn of the Sixth Happiness," so it's unlikely she'll be present to receive the Rome court decision on her annulment. Both she and Rossellini are apt to be represented by proxies when the big moment comes . . Edith Piaf will be well enough to come to the U. S. next month. She'll probably bring her new "protege," George Moutaki.

Have an example of the power of publicity, even the worst kind: Haish Nana, the Turkish belly-dancer who competed with Anita Ekberg at that recent wild party in Italy, is the recipient of a five-figure offer from a Las Vegas night spot . . . A high - ranking crooner may have to give one of his houses to the government as partial settlement on his six-figure income tax debt. He's in trouble chiefly because he loves to gamble.

Renata Tebaldi's first "Madame Butterfly" at the Met drew 28 curtain calls . . . Kim Novak has resumed unburdening her psyche to Clifford Odets . . . German jazz pianist Jutta Hipp is in semi - retirement, enforced-type. She's been dropped by the union.

It was "dreams - come true" stuff for Willie Bruffy, a Jimmy Dean fan from Alexandria, Va., when Jimmy sent for her and gave her a job as his secretary. She's perfect for the part, has kept a scrapbook on all his activities since his first TV appearances and probably knows more about his career than anyone else in the world.

If King Hussein decides to quit his country for good, don't weep over his financial status. Chums say he shipped about $3,000,000 to safe places during the past six weeks, in addition to the many millions he'd already stashed in at least five countries as "insurance" . . . Tallulah Bankhead's "Co-Star" album (the one with the gimmick where you folks at home perform opposite the celebrities) outsold all the other actors and actresses almost two to one, so she's been asked to record a second one.

Well, fellows, have a feature story: Tricia, the new long-stemmed Conover cuties, is a mortician's assistant in her spare time. The mortician's her dad, in Bayonne, N. J. . . . For the Oh, Come On Now! department: all those rumors about Adlai Stevenson having dated Peggy King . . . Sheilah Graham's biography "Beloved Infidel" is mighty entertaining reading, and her omission of any reference to her romance with Quentin Reynolds indicates she may have held out enough material for a sequel.

"Houseboat," opening this week at the Capitol, will be given other — and somewhat more startling — titles when it is presented in foreign countries. In South America, the film will be "I'll See You In My Arms ("Te Vere en Mis Brazos"); in France it will be called "Houseboat Of Happiness" ("La Peniche du Bonheur"), and in Taiwan it will be titled quite simply (and most inaccurately), Junk."

According to interested parties on the West Coast, the Tempest Storm - Herb Jeffries item is still blazing . . . The stories linking middleweight Jose Torres with a variety of glamor girls are highly fictionalized. The one and only lass in his life is a hometown sweetheart, Ramonita Ortiz of Ponce, Puerto Rica . . . Judy Garland shelved a dozen pounds in 10 days on a new diet, and there's more to come off. Whatever the formula is, it seems to be working marvelously on one of Judy's chief problems.

"Sweets" Edison, the great trumpet player, has reconciled with his wife, Harriet . . . Push-button telephones (instead of the dial type) aren't far off . . . Reservations on jet planes from New York to Florida are in the black market class already. Tickets for dates around the Christmas holidays are as much as $25 extra under the table.

Cy Coleman's idyll with Madeleine Carr appears to have faded . . . Barbara Hutton is writing a novel with the Riviera as a background — and with two highly paid researchers to help her. (As if her own true story wouldn't be far more fascinating than anything she could possibly invent.) . . . Mrs. Al Capone, who denies she signed any sort of agreement involving the screen biography of the gangster, will do everything possible to halt the movie . . . The Henry Schaefers of the brewing clan are in Splitsville and talking it over with their lawyers.

MAIL

TRENTON, N. J. (UPI)—Eleven railroads operating in New Jersey said federal payments for mail service had improved their financial outlook and they will be able to pay an 18 million dollar state tax bill that they doubted they could meet several months ago.

Although a speed of 80 miles an hour is permitted by law on the Kansas Turnpike, a recent survey revealed the average speed of cars using the facility was 63.4 miles an hour.

BERSERK SAILOR — Raymond J. Lizotte, 22, (left) a sailor who went berserk and shot a shipmate aboard a Navy radar ship in East Boston was disarmed and arrested in Providence, R.I. by patrolman George R. Gilbert Jr. (right). Program Launched To Revive Fur Buying Interest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Union and management forces in the fur industry united today in a three-year, $900,000 program to revive the American woman's flagging interest in buying furs.

While mink, ermine and sable remain popular with those who can afford them, the less exotic furs have slumped in feminine favor. Fur sales have dwindled to about half the volume of 10 years ago.

Improbably, it was the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen's Union which took the initiative in trying to restore the glamor appeal of fur coats.

The Fur Workers Union has been adopted by the Meat Cutters as its fur and leather department, but a substantial part of the department's membership is out of work.

The Meat Cutters announced that an initial $25,000 contribution from their treasury will be supplemented with about $150,000 a year collected by a joint union-management authority for use of the union label in fur garments.

Another $150,000 annually, more or less, is to be raised by individual contributions from the many fur manufacturers — mostly small operators — and from the manufacturers' trade associations.

'GANNONTIOUARATONSERI'

If Redman Drank, He Really Got Full

WASHINGTON (AP) — To the early Iroquois Indians, drunkenness wasn't a vice, but a virtue.

He even had a word for it, "gannontiouaratonseri." And when an Iroquois went on a ganntiouaratonseri, that meant he was really loaded.

The early Indian guzzling habits were up for discussion Tuesday at the 6th annual American Indian Ethnohistoric Conference at the Smithsonian Institution.

For the white man is a peculiar character. Having completely destroyed the Indian way of life, he now has the itch to find out what it was he destroyed.

Edmund Carpenter of the University of Toronto had a look at Indian drinking, in some ways as puzzling to us now as it was shocking to the Jesuits who first reported on it.

"Unlike the Jesuits," Carpenter said, "the Iroquois didn't regard the temporary loss of mental control as sacrilegious—but, on the contrary, believed that by getting outside the ordinary human order, they would get inside a higher spiritual order, and there by more intimately in touch with reality."

To these Indians, simple social drinking was a horrible waste of firewater.

Their religious rites called for ecstasy and frenzy. And when the good fathers tried to ration their brandy, the redskins nobly pooled their shares so that at least one among them could have a glorious binge.

Since the Indians deliberately courted drunkenness—"good, good my head is reeling!" an Indian would cry as the brandy grabbed hold—the results still are frightening after all these years.

Here's the way Francois Vachon de Belmont, a missionary who worked near Montreal, described the scene:

"Once inebriated, they throw off their clothing, or let it drop, and running about the town naked, beat one another. They bite each other's noses and ears so that there are few whole, entire visages remaining.

"They run about howling with knives in their hands; they delight in seeing their women and children fleeing before them, as if they were masters of the world."

Well, eventually soberer times came for the Iroquois. In 1800, their prophet, Handsome Lake, preached a new doctrine. Alcohol, he said, was the work of the devil.

One problem for historians: The early records were written by men who never considered giving the Indians a break.

Lawrence W. Towner, editor of The William & Mary Quarterly, made this point by quoting Cotton Mather. Mather once vigorously complained that Christianized Indians were abused, but this preacher also called them "vultures" and "devils incarnate."

The Indians' viewpoint comes through rarely. Towner gives this pitiable complaint, written in 1746 by a Nantucket Indian:

"To the honoureth gournor sir, these men which is to be the judge over us they are now wayes like Christions. In our places they will not let us have no Indion justeses."

Ironic note: Although the red man long ago gave up gannontiouaratonseri and settled down, apparently his views still must be expressed largely by white men. Of a score or more scholars appearing at the two-day meeting, not one is an Indian.

Bulganin Removed From Low-Rate Job

MOSCOW (UPI) —Former Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin has been removed from his down-graded economic post in the remote city of Stavropol since his denunciation for "anti-party" activities, diplomatic sources reported Tuesday.

There was no information concerning his future or his actual whereabouts now.

The sources said the former premier, who was ousted in March, 1957, when Nikita S. Khrushchev took over the premiership, lost his post as chairman of the local Economic Council in Stavropol, located in the North Caucasus.

He had been dispatched to Stavropol last summer after being quietly demoted from the chairmanship of the state bank, a ministerial post he received when Khrushchev became premier.

Observers said Bulganin apparently lost out in Stavropol because the chairmanship of an important economic council was not consistent with the grave accusation leveled against him last week.

At a meeting of the Central Party Committee attended by Khrushchev, Bulganin for the first time was linked publicly to the "anti-party" clique of Malenkov, Molotov and Kaganovich, the three deputy premiers who were ousted in disgrace in July, 1957.

Before his denunciation last Wednesday, Bulganin had been criticized privately for not siding with Khrushchev in his showdown with the "Molotov trio."

Bulganin's name had dropped from public mention until last Wednesday's accusations were leveled.

Khrushchev visited Stavropol in mid-September. It was considered noteworthy at the time that Bulganin was not mentioned as one of the officials who greeted the premier in the city.
